CURTAIN TO RISE ON FINAL ACT OF BASEBALL DRAMA

Giants and Athletics Primed for First Battle Today. "Unsettled Conditions," Is Weather Prophecy.

MATTY AND CHIEF SEEM TO BE HURLING CHOICES

New York, October 6.—The stage is set and tomorrow the curtain will rise on the final act of the 1913 baseball drama. Behind the scenes the Philadelphia Athletics and the New York Giants are at their stations ready for the cue that will send them into the limelight of the world series.

Spectators from all parts of the United States are ready for the rush on the Polo grounds, and only the menace of the weather man stands between thousands of fans and the fulfillment of their expectations.

"Unsettled conditions" was his dubious prediction for tomorrow. Whether the weather forecaster be right or wrong, the fact remains that "unsettled conditions" is the keynote to the whole situation on the eve of playing the initial contest of the series which will evolve the baseball champions of the universe.

Players, fans and prophets are all in the same boat. Of opinions and forecasts there are no end, but each and every one is fringed with strings of "ifs" and "buts" until the seeker for facts becomes bewildered by the maze of counter-information. Viewed from any angle, the series appears to promise sensational baseball, with the luck and breaks of the game playing a part of more than usual importance.

Odds Are Close.

Neither managers nor players will venture a straight prediction as to the result of either the first game or of the series, and their doubt as to the outcome is reflected by the wagering. The Athletics' supporters in Philadelphia are offering 10 to 9 on Connie Mack's team, while the New York club supporters are willing to lay similar odds when baited in their own bailiwick.

Professional bookmakers and men of their type, accustomed to figure betting propositions in a manner which gives them the edge, offer 9 to 10, with the better making his own choice as to the probable winner.

So far as actual wagering is concerned, there has been less betting than usual. The amounts range from $5 to $50, and many are of the freak variety—concerning the pitchers for the opening game; total number of games in the series, and similar propositions.

The uncertainty of the ultimate outcome and the apparent evenness in playing strength of the contending clubs furnished unlimited material for argument, and it is doubtful thta if thousands of telephonic devices were scattered about the metropolis they would record much of anything but world's series gossip.

The supporters of Mathewson and Marquard advanced a score of reasons why Manager McGraw should start their favorites against the Athletics and the fans from Philadelphia smiled and gently inserted into the argument a mention of J. Franklin Baker and what his trusty home-run bat did during the series of 1911.

Players Seek Rest.

In the midst of the turmoil of "fanning" on the eve of battle the players of the two clubs slipped away early and tried to calm frayed nerves with a sleep that appeared to be one of the most unattainable things of the night. The members of the New York club retired to their homes several hours before midnight and even the literary characters among them dropped pens and pencils in order that the bat might prove effective on the morrow.

The entire Philadelphia club, accompanied by a number of "rooters," arrived in the city shortly after 10 p. m. and retired at once to an uptown hotel. Little information regarding the plan of campaign was forthcoming and apparently both Connie Mack and John McGraw, were playing a waiting game so far as final plans and lineups were concerned.

While the principal actors in the great climax of the baseball year were wooing sleep the ticket speculators and the baseball public were far more active. Despite the plans and protestations of the New York National league club officials, the New York ticket speculator proved his right to the title of "king of his craft."

Speculators Busy.

Although there were but 8,000 reserved seats sold by the club to a selected list of patrons, a certain percentage of the coupons quickly found their way into the hands of the ticket venders who offered them at prices many times over their face value.

There was the usual cry of "scandal" and "investigation," but old-timers smiled and spoke of similar previous experiences which resulted in much talk but no action.

Because of the fact that but 8,000 of the 38,000 seats were disposed of in the advance sale the opportunities for speculators to secure tickets were not as great as in the past.

Consequently, those that were available commanded almost fabulous prices. Seats for three New York games were offered at prices ranging from $50 to $100, according to location. Single seats for the opening game were quoted at $30 each, and found ready purchasers, even at ten times their original price.

Doves Head Buys Tickets.

James E. Gaffney, president and owner of the Boston National league club, was one of the first to interview the speculators. Gaffney applied to the New York club for forty-six seats, as was his privilege as a club owner and

NOME IS RAVAGED BY GREAT STORM

Two Miles of Territory Next to Sea Devastated — No Lives Lost — Outside Help Is Needed by Sufferers.

Nome, Alaska, October 6.—Nome has been almost destroyed by a storm. Two miles of territory next to the sea was devastated. No lives were lost.

The storm that last night began beating in from Bering sea was the worst ever known here. Men and women worked all night in the icy water to save their household effects. The electric light plant was wrecked and telephone service cut off. The loss is estimated at a million and a half dollars.

There will be much suffering and outside help will be required. Winter is at hand and it will be impossible to get in supplies needed.

The steamships Victoria and Corwin, which were lying in the roadsted, ran to the open sea and escaped damage. All the small boats on the beach were destroyed.

Five hundred houses have been destroyed and more are falling.

World's Most Northerly City.

Nome, the famous gold camp, in Bering sea, the most northerly city in the world, was built on a sandy sea beach. In front of the town there is anchorage for ships, but steamers do not make a landing.

Cargoes and passengers are landed at an aerial tramway station in deep water. The principal part of the town, which a dozen years ago had a population of 20,000, is on the east side of Snake river, with a finger extending to the west along a narrow sandspit.

The sandspit was rich in gold dust and the early settlers built their cabins there. Of late years the sands have been worked out and little except dredging operations, which require large capital, is being done. It has been estimated that the dredges have enough ground in sight to operate fifty years more.

Over $35,000,000 in Gold Dust.

Nome has produced more than $35,000,000 in gold dust. Some years the yield has been as high as $8,000,000. This year the production will not exceed $4,000,000 owing to lack of water.

The summer population of Nome is about 4,000, and in winter 2,000 remain, the others coming out on steamships that leave late in October. One steamship is yet to leave Seattle for Nome.

It will be possible to send revenue cutters to Nome to deliver supplies and take away needy persons, who wish to leave.

Two Choose Death As Best Way Out of Marital Infelicities

Alleged Suicides Put An End to the Troubles of Two Young Couples of Valdosta.

Valdosta, Ga., October 6.—(Special.) News received at Valdosta today of the death of a young wife in one part of this county, and of a young husband in another section, indicate that death by their own hands was chosen in each case as the easiest way out of the unhappiness of material infelicity.

Mrs. Ovenio Cawthron, wife of Mitch Cawthron, a young farmer, was found dead with a bullet through her head and a revolver by her side at the home of her father, Pennywell Folsom, in the Ousley district, on Sunday. Coroner Solomon held an inquest over Mrs. Cawthron's remains, and the jury rendered a verdict to the effect that she had shot herself with suicidal intent.

It is stated that Mrs. Cawthron's married life of a year had not been happy. She separated from her husband two or three times, and was living at her father's home at the time when she shot herself. The couple had been married only a few months when the first separation occurred. This was followed by a reconciliation which lasted for only a short while.

Find Young Husband's Body.

LIVES OF ATLANTA SCHOOL CHILDREN AT STAKE; TOTS FAINT FROM FOUL AIR AT HIGHLAND SCHOOL

By Isma Dooly.

Foul air, laden with poisonous human products, due to almost criminal overcrowding, threatens the lives of thousands, the scholarship of practically all Atlanta's school children.

Tots barely out of the nursery are the chief sufferers. The fathers and mothers of Atlanta cannot know the peril to which their children are exposed. The taxpayers cannot know how the educational plant built with their money is menaced. I know, for I have seen with my own eyes, and heard the testimony of competent witnesses about many schools.

I always appreciated the wit of the remark the Hon. Leslie Shaw, then secretary of the treasury, made on his first visit to Atlanta, when he said "Atlanta was the biggest little town he ever saw," but I never realized the truth of the remark until yesterday, when I visited the Highland school and saw ninety-four little children stuffed in one badly ventilated school room taught by one teacher.

Conditions Shocking.

Having visited a number of Georgia school houses in the last ten years, and knowing the improvement that has come to be in the construction of the school house in the small town, and the equipment therein, I was shocked to observe that in the Capital City of the Empire State of the South conditions could be going on as they are in many of the public schools of Atlanta and nothing being done to meet the immediate emergency.

As I started out to the Highland school and passed through the city, I gazed with pride at the towering piles of brick and stone and mortar with no little expression of architecture about some of it. I boarded the Houston street car, the one going to Copenhill, which took me through a residence portion of the city which indicates a progress and prosperity that warrants the horn of plenty sentiment which we habitually and right commendably hoist on high.

I was pleased by the locality of the Highland school, and by its outside appearance, but when I entered—just as the children were entering the building from two sides after recess—I wondered where they were all going to be put when they got in. Every door and every window was open, and God's sunshine was pouring in everywhere, but when I stood at the door of one room, that in which the third grade children were assembled, and saw them come tripping in, counting ninety-four, fill every desk, line up against the four sides of the wall, and then saw the teacher come in and pick her steps through the row of little feet between the wall and the first row of desks, I thought:

"Are the taxpayers of Atlanta going to allow the lives of their children to be endangered in this way?"

Bad on the Eyes.

There are sixty desks in this room, the dimensions of which are 33 feet by 19 feet and some inches. The height is 12 feet and 9 inches. The thirty-four children without desks were seated on low benches against the wall, and on one bench beside the teacher's desk, with their backs to the main blackboard, from which the teacher illustrates many of the lessons.

When the children who occupy seats with desks want to use the blackboard they have to put out of the seats on the benches against the walls the little ones who have no desks, and much time is lost in seating and reseating children to make possible for the one teacher to conduct classes.

Out of the thirty-four children who sit against the wall, seventeen of them are so placed that the light comes in the direction which eye specialists state is so directly injurious to the eyes of children, that a week's time in this position will serve to injure eyes permanently.

It is impossible for the children seated in this way, against the wall, to take care of their books, and at the same time use a pencil, and they cannot use pen or ink at all. Some of the little boys have brought little cigar boxes to school, and sit on these, writing then on the benches upon which they sit when not writing.

They necessarily are cramped, are continually elbowing each other for want of space and altogether are most uncomfortable, while the work of the teacher who must hold the attention of the 94 in this room can better be imagined than described.

Four Are Taken Sick.

Most of the time was taken up while I was there an hour or more yeste... by the teacher of this room and the principal doing a sort of nursing. Four children were taken sick while I inspected the three school rooms on this first floor, three of the children in the crowded third grade room. One of the children was visibly ill from the heat of the room, and the fact that she was far removed from the window or door.

In one of the grades a little boy fainted yesterday, and note after note is being directed from parents to the teachers to know when their children can be comfortably seated and if anything is being done to meet the emergency.

In the second grade of this same school there are 73 children, and in the first grade, where the very little children are, there were 84 yesterday.

In the vicinity of this school most of the homes are new, and constructed along the most modern lines. In many of them sleeping porches are a pleasing addition. But what will happen to the little ones who go from these homes to a school room where 94 of them are huddled together and breathe and rebreathe poisoned air? What will happen when the cold or rainy days come, and the windows will have to be partially closed?

For four weeks this condition has been in existence and nothing has been done to meet the immediate emergency. Had there been provided one or more extra teachers the surplus number of children might have had something in the nature of an out-of-door class, but no extra teachers were provided.

I never like to write a story which draws attention to Atlanta's neglect of any situation as vital as this one, the life of her children, without offering a remedy, and in this case I would suggest that temporarily there be erected four open-air school rooms on the top of the Highland school, this being possible of construction in a short time and at a little cost. Not only would it save the health of many little children, but it would save the energy and force of the teacher, and save the scholarship of all the children in the school suffering from crowded conditions.

I understand that a building has been secured on Moreland avenue which is designed to relieve the crowded conditions of the Highland school, that of Edgewood school and that of Inman Park, but even with that, the space this building will afford will be a very little help, as only five grades can be provided for there.

I did not have time to visit any of the other schools yesterday, but I have it stated to me by people who are sufferers therefrom that the crowded conditions in Inman Park have required that three classes be established in the basement of the building, directly opposite the toilet, a condition which does not exist now in the congested districts of the east side in New York, or in any other civilized community I know of.

The Edgewood school has similar conditions, and the same prevails in the Exposition cotton mill school while the condition in the "Pittsburg" negro school is barbarous, and that in the other negro schools very little better.

In looking over the January files of The Constitution I find that besides urgent appeals made by the superintendent of the schools and by the board of education, the report made by both and the budget presented to the city council asked an appropriation of $890,000 for the maintenance of the schools and that the appropriation granted was $513,000.

The superintendent and board explained what the money was needed for; they apprehended the very conditions which exist in the schools today and unfortunately the conditions they apprehended exist.

I do not know anything about local politics; I do not know anything about the city treasury, its surplus or indebtedness, but I do know that the existence of conditions as I saw them in the Highland school yesterday is very incompatible with all ideals of civic progress or rational education.

Lives Are in Danger.

I know that not only the right training of all the children in this school is being hampered by crowded conditions, but that the lives of many are in danger. I saw in the faces of several of the children yesterday the lines and pallor that come from nervousness and lack of comfort, and I saw that many of them would be easy victims of contagion or the slightest infection.

I feel quite sure that if the mothers of the children of the Highland school could know the conditions as they are in the school they would use their influence at once to have conditions remedied, and I cannot make out why the men taxpayers of Atlanta who pay for the education of their children in the public schools do not come forward and demand that something be done. If there is not money enough to pay for the maintenance of the schools, what is to be done?

Let them get together and see, for the very life of the child of the city is at stake.

Free Megaphone Detail of World's Series Games at Constitution Building Daily; Come Out; If You Can't Come---Phone

The Constitution has arranged for a direct wire from the Polo Grounds, New York, and Shibe Park, Philadelphia, for the world's series between the Athletics and the Giants.

The Constitution will receive over this wire today the full Associated Press detail of every play just as it happens at the Polo Grounds, and Atlanta fans will be given the plays in the few brief seconds thereafter that it takes to send a message through from Gotham to the Gate City of the South.

These returns will be megaphoned daily by The Constitution's sporting editor, Dick Jemison. Atlanta fans remember the effective detail of the Jeffries-Johnson fight, megaphoned by Mr. Jemison. The detail of the world's series games will be handled in the same accurate, complete manner.

A score board, showing the batting order of the two teams, the opposing batteries, the score by innings and other little details will be displayed from the second floor window of The Constitution building.

As each player comes up to the bat, just what he does will be told quickly, accurately.

Come out to this detail. It's free. The board will be displayed from the window facing the Forsyth street viaduct and the megaphoning will be done from the same window.

If you cannot come out to this free detail, phone. The Constitution's wonderful telephone service, which was the source of so many compliments during the Mobile-Atlanta series in that great pennant fight, will be working in full blast today and every day during the remainder of the series.

Remember the instructions that were issued at that time.

Phone Main 5000, ask "What's the score?" and then ring off when you get the answer, as there is sure to be someone else waiting for you to get off the line.

The Constitution's service will be the most complete — and the charge is — NOTHING.

TEN $1,000 NOTES HANDED TO SULZER BY RYAN'S AGENT

AID OF BOSS BARNES WAS SOUGHT BY SULZER

Governor Begged Ryan's Son to Get the G. O. P. Boss to Urge Republican Legislators to Fight Impeachment.

Albany, N. Y., October 6.—Governor William Sulzer attempted to obtain the influence of United States Senator Elihu Root and of William Barnes, chairman of the republican state committee, to prevent the trial of his impeachment, according to testimony adduced at the trial today, although subsequently stricken out by vote of the court.

Allen A. Ryan, son of Thomas F. Ryan, a New Yorwk financier, gave the testimony. It also was brought out through the testimony of Ignatius V. McGlone, secretary of the elder Ryan, that Governor Sulzer was the recipient of $10,000 cash campaign contribution from the Ryans, which was not reported in the governor's sworn campaign statement.

Gave Sulzer Ten $1,000 Bills.

McGlone testified that Sulzer appealed to him for the money, requesting that it be made in cash. When the elder Ryan ordered the contribution to be made, McGlone carried ten $1,000 bills to Sulzer and handed them to him.

"Tell your father I am the same old Bill," young Mr. Ryan said the governor said to him over the telephone, in asking for the contribution.

Mr. Ryan was called to the stand today after the attorneys for the impeachment managers had obtained permission to reopen their case, which they announced as complete when court adjourned last Thursday. The witness said that just a week before the trial of impeachment began he had seen Governor Sulzer in the latter office in New York.

"He asked me," testified the financier's son, slowly, "to go to Washington and see Senator Root and request him to see Mr. Barnes, get him to endeavor to have the republican members of this body vote that this court had no right to try him and impeach him."

Sulzer Compared to St. Paul.

The testimony preceded the opening of the case for the defense late in the afternoon by Harvey B. Hinman, who compared Governor Sulzer to the apostle Paul, whose former friends, the attorney said, "did not attempt to impeach him or his epistles because of what he had done while acting with them and while one of them."

"When in the nineteenth century has a voice been raised to condemn Paul or his epistles for his acts as Saul?" asked Mr. Hinman. The question was, he added, whether Governor Sulzer was impeached for corrupt conduct in office or "because of what he has refused to do since he took office?"

It was in the face of repeated objections by counsel for the defense, who several times halted him, as he was about to answer, that Mr. Ryan was permitted to tell of his conversations with the governor. Judge Culen withheld a final ruling on their objections.

Ryan was asked by Attorney Stanchfield, representing the managers of the impeachment:

"Didn't you have a talk with Governor Sulzer in reference to securing some one to influence the action of this court?"

"Yes."

"State that conversation," said Attorney Stanchfield.

"He asked me to go to Washington," Ryan replied, "to see Senator Root and request him to see William Barnes and get him to endeavor to have republican members of this body to vote that this court had no right to try him—to impeach him."

It Caused a Sensation.

As soon as the testimony fell from

HENSLEE ANSWERS SPARTA CITIZENS

Made His Remarks About Leo Frank After Trial and Not Before, Says Juror Accused of Prejudice.

A. H. Henslee, juror in the Frank case, who has been declared prejudiced against the prisoner in a number of affidavits filed with the clerk of the superior court, yesterday sent the following letter to The Constitution, in which he denies many of the statements made by Messrs. Holmes, Johnson and Gray, of Sparta, Ga.

"Editor The Constitution: Replying to your article in today's issue, October 6, in reference to Messrs. Holmes Johnson and Gray, I will say I am sorry to think that they would go ahead and make such a statement over their signatures that I discussed and tried Leo Frank in their office on July 27.

"Having read their depositions, in Solicitor Hugh Dorsey's office, I will say that I spoke of the case freely, and met their many friends in the office on September 2, which was Tuesday morning.

Frank Case Not Mentioned.

"I am sorry to think they would express themselves and dare their deposition as they did, either July 27 or June 27. I will say that I was in this office on June 27, but the Frank case was never mentioned.

"As for branding them all liars, I have never done so, but they have miscalculated the date.

"I did willingly express myself freely regarding the Frank case on September 2, which was after Frank was convicted, Tuesday morning, met many of their friends to whom they introduced me, and did say and express to these friends and to them, that Leo M. Frank, judging from the evidence of Jim Conley, was really a prevent.

"I made a statement to one of the Atlanta papers that I almost positively knew that the depositions received from Sparta, Ga., would not contain anything that I had said prior to the case—that they would be similar to those from Blakely, Ga.

"Regarding the statement that they knew me and my family for years, I wish to state that I hold these gentlemen in the highest esteem, as men whom I believe would defend and honor me and my family regardless of public sentiment.

Surprised at Action.

"I wish to state further, however, that after reading their depositions in Solicitor Dorsey's office, I am surprised that men of their intelligence should come out in a newspaper and request a reply in such a way as they have. As to branding them liars I have never done so. They got their dates wrong, that's all.

"In conclusion, considering this as a reply to each one of them personally, instead of branding them as liars, I would gladly defend them at all times.

"Mr. Julius A. Lehman, of the firm of Floyd & Lehman, of the city of Atlanta, makes an affidavit, I understand, to the effect that I stated to him, on either June 2 or 6, while on the train between Atlanta and Experiment, Ga., that I believed Frank guilty. This statement also, I brand as false, as on his lips, counsel for Governor Sulzer held a hurried conference, and Attorney D'Cady Herrick demanded that the testimony be stricken out on the ground that it was incompetent.

The whole court room was soon abuzz with conversation, and it was evident that the words of the witness had caused a sensation.

"The testimony is stricken out," said Presiding Judge Cullen.

Senator Elon R. Brown, republican leader in the senate, demanded a vote on the ruling of the presiding judge.

"With all due deference to the ruling of the president," said the senator, "I desire to move that the testimony be allowed to stand on the record. I think it is due to the people of the state and due to the court that after such a matter has been brought out that there should be no flinching on the part of the court in relation to the inquiry."

The presiding judge was sustained by a vote of 32 to 18.

John B. Stanchfield, attorney for the impeachment managers, attempted to obtain from Mr. Ryan testimony as to another conversation he had with the governor, but was not permitted to pursue this line of questioning further. Mr. Ryan, after court had adjourned, said to newspaper men:

"I am unwilling to make any statement other than I made as a witness, except I did not see or communicate with Senator Root on the subject."

Not the Only Parting Shot.

Mr. Ryan's testimony was not the only parting shot that was fired by the impeachment managers before the defense opened.

Edward P. Meany, attorney for the New York Telephone company, testified that he loaned the governor $10,000 in cash within a week or ten days after his nomination. Meany said he had made the contribution in cash because he did not wish it to be known for fear the gift might be "misconstrued." He added that the governor had promised to pay it back to him when he could.

A letter which the governor had written supposedly in connection with the gift and not allowed in evidence, was reported to have been a recommendation by the governor to President Wilson that Meany be appointed to an ambassadorship.

Attorney Hinman stated that little or no evidence would be offered by the defense in answer to articles three, four, five, seven and eight. These charge martering political influence, attempting to influence the stock market by legislation, the bribery of witnesses and the suppression of evidence. The court already has ruled out testimony offered regarding the governor's alleged attempts to barter his political influence and the other articles were touched only lightly by evidence offered by the board of managers.

No Evidence, Says Sulzer's Attorney.

"As we view it," he said, "it is not a question of the 'probative' force or value of the evidence, but a case where there is an utter lack of evidence supporting the charges, or from which any inference against the respondent can legitimately be drawn. We will leave these articles with the evidence or the lack of evidence relating thereto for the court to pass upon at such time as it seems advisable."

In connection with this part of the testimony Hinman charged counsel for the board of managers with using unfair tactics and making unwarranted insinuations throughout the trial.

"Although there is an entire lack of evidence in support of any one of these five articles of impeachment," he said, "and although there is not in the case anything from which even an inference can be drawn in support of the allegations therein contained, it is equally true that this case from the beginning has been filled with insinuations and innuendoes which were not only unjustified and misleading, but which of necessity tended to before the case and to divert the attention not only of the court, but of the public as well, from the real issues involved."

The Articles Considered.

The attorney then took up articles 1, 2 and 6, on which he indicated counsel for the governor would make their strongest fight. The charges brought in the articles and Hinman's answer follow, in part:

Article 1. That the governor made a false statement regarding his campaign expenses and thereby concealed certain contributions.

Sulzer, knowing the sentiment and feeling of the donors toward him, believed many of the gifts were intended for him personally, to be used in his campaign if needed or be applied to his personal expenses. Many of these contributions were handled by clerks and by Louis Sarecky, his campaign secretary, so that Sulzer had no personal knowledge of the gifts. Not until after the election did Sarecky learn that it would be necessary to make out a statement of expenditures, and having kept no account of all the expenditures he had to depend on his memory regarding many of them. When he finally submitted the statement to the governor, he, without reading it, got Sarecky's assurance that it was "all right," and with no thought of falsifying, signed it and swore to its truthfulness.

Article 2. That in swearing to the campaign statement the governor committed perjury.

Nowhere does the law say that a candidate shall tell what money he receives during the campaign. Only a statement showing expenditures is demanded. None has questioned the governor's expenditures, therefore his affidavit meets every requirement of the law, and he is in no way guilty of perjury.

The Charge of Larceny.

Article 6. That in converting campaign contributions to his personal use, the governor was guilty of larceny.

Only the persons who contributed money to Sulzer could bring him into court on such charge. Even the donor could only ask the return of the gift and then, if this were refused, only civil proceedings could be brought. No donor yet has asked the return of his gift. To urge the impeachment of a public official because he did not use the money in aid of his election is "so unreasonable as to be almost ridiculous."

"During the campaign the respondent received donations, gifts and loans from many friends and acquaintances," said Mr. Hinman.

"The respondent received these gifts, making no effort to keep them separate from his own moneys or to apply them to any definite or specific purpose.

"Some of these gifts were deposited by the respondent in his bank account, where they have ever since remained. It was there that the Elkus and Morgenthau checks were deposited. Some of these gifts were turned over by the respondent to Mr. Sarescky and some were turned over to the respondent's wife.

"Some of the checks received by the respondent were finally used in payment of the purchase price of certain stocks of the firm of Boyer, Griswold & Co. It is claimed here that this stock was purchased of Beyer, Griswold & Co. secretly. This claim is made in the face of the fact that the checks used in payment to Boyer, Griswold & Co. of that stock were, with one or two exceptions, checks made to the order and indorsed in the name of the respondent, and one of them was the personal check of the respondent.

Motives of Accusers Questioned.

"Had there been any wrongful intent or purpose in connection with these transactions it is certain that such checks would never have found their way into any brokerage house."

In closing, Hinman questioned the motives of the persons who brought the charges, intimating that the whole proceeding was the result of the efforts of disgruntled politicians to punish an enemy.

"The question must be, and is," he said, 'Was the respondent impeached because of mal and corrupt conduct in office?' for crimes and misdemeanors, or was he impeached because of what he refused to do since he took office?

"Was the proceeding instituted because of a desire to accomplish a public good, or was it for the purpose of getting rid of a public official who was performing his duty? Was he impeached, as they say, for 'stealing' the moneys which his friends gave him, or was it because he was preventing grafters from stealing the moneys of the taxpayers? Was he impeached because, as they say, he made a false oath, or was it because he refused to violate his official oath of office?

"These are some of the questions which the public are expecting this court to answer, and which this court, under the questions to be voted upon, will have to answer. Upon their answer, we believe, depends quite largely the future welfare and interests of the state.

"Th etime is surely coming—indeed, it may be near at hand—when we, as a people, must demonstrate whether our forms of government, with an almost unlimited elective franchise, can endure. We cannot escape the feeling that what is done here and now may have tremendous influence on the determination of that question."

No testimony was taken by the defense today.

Louis A. Sarecky will be called tomorrow as their first witness.

FACE COVERED WITH PIMPLES

Spread to Back. Could Hardly Sleep for Burning and Itching. Caused Disfigurement. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Entirely Cured.

214 Brevard St., Tampa, Fla. — "Some three years ago I commenced to suffer from a rash on my face and back. Before the pimples came on my face there were a lot of blackheads. It looked as if the blackheads turned into pimples because after a little while all of them were gone and my face was covered with pimples. They were small at first but gradually grew and right at the end of each pimple it was all white. I carelessly picked them with my finger nails, which made them spread, and I soon discovered them on my back. My back was covered with pimples and my face the same way. At night I could hardly sleep on account of the burning and itching sensation they caused. I felt like a lot of small-sized crabs biting at my back. I did not like to go out because the pimples caused disfigurement.

"Seeing the advertisement of Cuticura Soap and Ointment in one of the magazines I sent for a sample. At night I would put the Cuticura Ointment on my face and back and I was pleased with the result. I bought some Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and I am glad to be able to say that I am entirely cured of pimples." (Signed) Jno. O. Darlington, Jan. 25, 1913.

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

SALTS IF BACKACHY AND KIDNEYS HURT

Stop eating meat for a while if your Bladder is troubling you.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

NATIONAL COMMITTEE TO BE SHORN OF POWER

Cummins Says It Must Be Divested of Control Over G. O. P. National Conventions.

Washington, October 6.—Senator Cummins today outlined in part the reform plans of the so-called "conciliation committee" of republicans and progressives which hopes to bring about the holding of a national convention early in 1914.

The change in the representation of southern states in the national convention is a secondary matter on the program of the committee. With the added support of many republican leaders who did not participate in the "get together" conference in Chicago last spring, they will insist that the control of the republican national committee over seating of delegates in a national convention be abolished.

Chief Issue in Fight.

"The chief issue in this fight," said Senator Cummins, today, "is that involving the method of selecting and seating delegates in the national convention that nominates the republican presidential and vice presidential candidates. We shall insist that the present rules be so modified and reconstructed that the republican national committee no longer will have the power to make up a temporary roll of delegates or to pass on the credentials o fstate delegates before they are seated in the convention.

"Where states have primary laws that govern the election of delegates it will be an easy matter to provide by party rule that the certificates issued by local election officials shall be final evidence entitling the delegates to seats in the convention. Where such laws do not exist, however, I believe that republican authorities in each state, either the state committee or a special board, should pass on all contested delegations, and thus virtually determine the control of the national convention."

To Take Power from Committee.

"We shall insist that some such change as this be made so that the republican national committee will not in the future have the power to temporarily seat contested or contesting delegations, an dthus virtually determine the control of the national convention."

The call issued by Chairman Charles D. Hilles for a meeting of the national committee in Washington December 16 has set in motion again the movement started early last summer by Senators Cummins, Jones, Crawford and others for the special national convention. The endorsement given the project a few weeks ago by the New York republican state convention added impetus to the campaign.

It is proposed to bring all possible pressure to bear on members of the national committee before the date set for the meeting in Washington to induce them to agree to the holding of a national convention not later than next February.

YUAN SHI KAI ELECTED PRESIDENT OF CHINA

Peking, China, October 6.—Yuan Shi Kai was today elected president of the Chinese republic for a term of five years. He received the necessary two-thirds vote of the united houses of parliament on the third ballot.

The constitution provides that at least two-thirds of the members of parliament present must vote for a candidate in order to accomplish his election. It also calls for the presence at a presidential election of three-fourths of the members of both houses.

In all parts of the country the greatest interest was manifested in today's proceedings—the first presidential election in the new republic's history.

The first ballot took a considerable time because the deputies and senators were not familiar with the proceedings. The candidates included, besides Provisional President Yuan Shi Kai, Tsai Yuan Heng, Dr. Wu Ting Fang, former Chinese minister at Washington, and Dr. Sun Yat Sen, leader of the republican government.

Of the 850 members of the house of representatives and senate, 759 were in attendance. On the final ballot Yuan Shi Kai received 507 votes, only one more than the necessary two-thirds. Li Yuen Heng, provisional vice president, received 179 votes. The other ballots were scattered among twenty minor candidates.

The announcement of the result was received with enthusiasm.

TWO CHOOSE DEATH AS BEST WAY OUT

farmer of the Clyattville district, who was found dead in a pool of water near the tracks of the Georgia and Florida railway Sunday, the stomach of the young man was today sent to Atlanta for a chemical analysis.

Young Weeks was last seen alive last Thursday afternoon. He was in Valdosta that day, and while here seemed very despondent over domestic trouble.

Evidence to the coroner's jury was to the effect that he walked on the tracks of the Georgia and Florida railway in the direction of his home, and that he was later in the afternoon seen lying asleep or in a stupor by the railroad tracks. Two negro men who saw him thought he was drunk, but it is stated that he did not drink, and the jury believed that he was suffering from a narcotic, probably taken with suicidal intent.

Post Mortem Held.

A post-mortem by Drs. Quillian and Freeman disclosed two slight wounds on his head, but it is not believed that they were sufficient to have caused death. The body is believed to have been in the water since Thursday. There was no water in the lungs, indicating that Weeks was not drowned.

WILSON TO PUSH MONEY MEASURE

Washington, October 6.—President Wilson will begin conferences tomorrow with democratic senators looking to the acceleration of the administration currency bill's progress through the senate.

The president has been informed that some members of the senate banking and currency committee plan to continue the hearings two weeks longer and consume a month thereafter in working over the bill. He looks upon this program as likely to throw the currency discussion into the December session of congress and postpone a vote indefinitely and will endeavor to ascertain from members of the committee and democratic senators generally what are the causes of delay.

At the white house it was stated today that the president would feel justified in urging every legitimate means to forward the progress of the bill toward the statute books before the end of the present session.

Significant in the day's developments on the situation were remarks which the president made to callers to the effect that objections to the administration bill proceeded chiefly from big bankers because they feared that the control of the country's financial system would be taken from their hands by the new measure.

Many Letters of Approval.

Referring to a large number of telegrams and letters from bankers throughout the country approving the bill, the president called particular attention to the fact that some of these bankers had requested that their names be not made public. He also told some of those with whom he discussed the subject that if the people of the country knew the real state of affairs with reference to the opposition to the currency bill they would regard it as ridiculous.

Various rumors were current at the capitol when the president's views became known there.

One report had it that Mr. Wilson contemplated issuing a statement in the near future with special reference to the relations between the big bankers and small bankers who had voiced their opposition to the administration bill during the recent hearings. There was no confirmation of this at the white house.

No announcement was made tonight of the particular senators with whom the president will discuss the currency situation. Senators Hitchcock, of Nebraska; Reed, of Missouri, and O'Gorman, of New York, are the democratic senators who have expressed a desire to continue the hearings and get more information before beginning work on the bill. The other four democrats on the committee—Senators Owen, Pomerene, Hollis and Shafroth—are declared to be willing to start work at once on the bill itself.

Glass Attacks Hitchcock.

Representative Carter Glass, chairman of the house committee on banking and currency, issued a statement tonight criticising the opposition to the pending currency bill of Senator Hitchcock, a democratic member of the senate committee on banking and currency. He said he was "quite curious to know" to what provisions of the measure the Nebraska senator was to attach the "several hundred amendments of which he speaks in his rather persistent newspaper crusade against the bill."

Thus far Mr. Glass declared Senator Hitchcock "ventures to specify but four objections to the bill as it passed the house" in asking for more time in which to consider the subject. Asserting that the senate committee had possession of the currency bill before the house committee, the statement suggested that "it would not be exactly fair for the public to assume, merely because Senator Hitchcock is unprepared to act, that those who now have the matter in charge have not had even more time and better opportunities that the house committee to study the subject and give it definite form and substance."

Concerning some of Senator Hitchcock's objections to the bill, Representative Glass said in part:

"The assertion that the bill, as it passed the house, would 'frightfully contract commercial credits,' even temporarily, is a figment of the imagination. It has not one particle of basis; and no capable actuary with any regard for his intellectual integrity would reach any such conclusion.

As to "Wild Inflation."

"As to the talk of an ultimate period of 'wild inflation,' it is curious to note that Senator Hitchcock, in his plea for delay, finds himself in exact accord with the two republican members of his committee, who attached their sting natures to the Aldrich scheme, provided for a possible inflation of the currency to the extent of $600,000,000,000.

"The intimation of the distinguished Nebraska senator that he intends to amend to currency bill by compelling regional reserve banks to discount the obligations of member banks, thus stripping the regional banks of their discretion, as I interpret his suggestion, will interest both the scientific student and the practical banker as being a unique idea. One of the most vehement criticisms that the house bill encountered during the entire process of consideration related to the power of the reserve board to require 'in time of emergency' and under reserve restrictions, one regional reserve bank to rediscount the prime paper of another regional reserve bank, of which there are to be only twelve.

"Yet, now, as I understand, we have from Mr. Hitchcock, a serious proposal to open the throttle wide, and in the ordinary course of business transactions, compel regional banks indiscriminately to rediscount paper and to issue currency and credits to, perhaps, 10,000 member banks.

Federal Reserve Brand.

"No feature of the bill received greater attention or more serious consideration and none was more exhaustively discussed than the provision having to do with the powers of the federal reserve board. These powers do not comprehend, except suggestively, the routine functions of banking. There is but one of them which has not been exercised, 'fully or approximately, for fifty years by the secretary of the treasury or the comptroller of the currency.'

The statement charged that some of the witnesses who appeared before the senate committee, were prompted by bankers as to what they were to say and cited the instance of "a great merchant of the country" who had been told to come to Washington to "sow seeds of discontent with the house bill by declaring to the senate committee, as Mr. Hitchcock has declared to the country that it 'involves a tremendous contraction of commercial credits.'"

This testimony Mr. Glass said was absurd, and he added that the merchant who gave it, afterward admitted that he was "coached," and that he had not even read the bill.

Representative Glass concluded with a statement that he had hesitated to make any criticism of committee proceedings on the senate side and that he would not have spoken at all, had the senator from Nebraska confined his observations to his committee room.

KEMP TO BE DEPORTED AFTER TERM IN PRISON

Southampton, England, October 6.—A sentence of twenty-one days at hard labor was pronounced today on Harry Kemp, an American verse writer, who was charged with stowing himself away on board the steamship Oceanic on her last voyage from New York.

The magistrate recommended that Kemp be deported after he had served his term.

GIRL LURED TO DEATH BY A TELEPHONE CALL

Chicago, October 6.—Miss Ida G. Leegson, art student, whose nude body was found on the prairie west of here yesterday, was lured to her death by some man who telephoned to her in response to her advertisment for a place as a nurse. This was the conclusion of the police tonight after more than twenty-four hours' search, which resulted, the police admit, in no trail that can direct them to the murderer.

She Fought Her Murderer.

Her tattered clothes, strewn for half mile along the road approaching the prairie, and the bruises on the body indicated that death had come only after she had made a hard struggle, but there was nothing found to show by whom Miss Leegson had been induced to visit the lonely spot on the western outskirts of the city.

After giving up her position as a school teacher in Mason City, Iowa, September 29, Miss Leegson came to Chicago and engaged a room with Mrs. James P. Burnett, saying she was going to try to earn more money to continue her art studies. Saturday she inserted an advertisement in a paper asking for a place as a trained nurse.

Saturday afternoon a telephone call came from a "Mr. Wilson," who, when told Miss Leegson was out, inquired closely after her personal appearance. An hour later, he called again and asked her to go to a point on the west side to care for his wife. She left to answer the call and was not heard from again by her friends.

The street address given by "Mr. Wilson" proved to be a vacant lot on the prairie. A canvass of the houses in the vicinity of the prairie showed none occupied by any one named Wilson.

She Had No Men Friends.

The possibility that Miss Leegson was lured to her death by an organized band of "white slavers," while being investigated by the police, is not believed by them to offer a solution the mystery. An investigation among the teachers at the University of Chicago and at the art institute indicated that the murdered woman had been known for her industry; that she had no men friends, and that her nights had been spent in study.

The police are searching for the dark-colored, high-covered automobile described by William Salvage, a switchman on the belt line road, who reported that he had seen such a car pass this crossing Saturday night and that it had returned an hour or so later.

Miss Leegson's hand satchel was found a block from where the body lay. It had been slashed with a knife and its contents, except a pair of stockings and a piece of soap, removed.

Miss Leegson once brought suit against Dr. H. J. Allen, of Aurora, Ill., on the ground that he falsely accused her of flirting with some of her pupils and caused her dismissal.

CUTS ARE BEING MADE IN PRICES OF STEEL

New York, October 6.—Independent steel and iron manufacturers are quoting further reductions in prices of manufactured products to consumers in this market and New England, according to reports today. A cut of $2 a ton in steel plates and sheet steel was reported today, and other reductions were said to be contemplated.

So far as is known the United States Steel corporation has not deviated from its recent schedule, nor has it in any way intimated any change of policy in this respect. Price reductions have been more or less general for several weeks, but the enactment of the new tariff is believed to be directly responsible for lower prices of the last few days.

United States Steel common and similar issues were weak in today's market, steel declining to 56¾ in the first hour, its lowest price in some months.

Some of the leading representatives of the trade unhesitatingly declared today that much of the adverse comment and rumor dealing with conditions was manufactured for ulterior purposes. The steel corporation and some of the large independent companies were said to be working their mills at between 80 and 90 per cent of capacity.

The steel corporation, it was authoritatively stated, has enough business on hand to warrant work up to at least 80 per cent of capacity until well into 1914. It was pointed out that while there had been some decrease in demand for certain staples, this has been more than offset by an increased demand for wire, tubeing and structural steel.

Officials of the corporation are watching the effect of the new tariff law with considerable interest, but are unanimously of the opinion that they will be able to hold their business against foreign competition. They admit that foreign manufacturers may cut into domestic trade along the seaboard, but declare that the foreigners will be unable to compete with domestic manufacturers for inland trade because of heavy freight charges.

Gerard Reaches Berlin.

Berlin, October 6.—The new United States ambassador to Germany, James W. Gerard, of New York, arrived here early today and at once informally assumed the duties of his office. He is not qualified to act officially until the presentation of his letters of credence. Ambassador Gerard has taken up his residence for the present at a hotel.

SOUTH IS HONORED AT THE WHITE HOUSE

Washington, October 6.—The southland and its manufactures are signally honored in the furnishings of one of the great south guest chambers on the second floor of the white house, adjoining the bedrooms used by President Wilson. In the process of renovation, which has been going on all over the executive mansion this summer, the guest chamber has been entirely refurnished and redecorated principally with products of the south.

More than sixty yards of upholstering material made of cotton, picked, ginned, carded and woven by women of the southern mountain country, used for hangings, cushions and furniture coverings furnish the keynote of the decorative scheme. A four-poster bed, cotton rugs and other furnishings in harmony with the general scheme complete the chamber.

Mrs. Wilson will give her personal attention to the rearrangement of many of the rooms when she returns to the capital from the summer white house at Cornish, N. H.

GIRL WHO LOST NOSE IS GROWING NEW ONE

Washington, October 6.—Her nose lost as the result of an accident, Miss Nellie Radigan, of St. Elmo, Va., is in a local hospital growing a new one, but at the sacrifice of the index finger of her left hand, and surgeons today believed that one of the most difficult operations ever performed here would be entirely successful. Their belief will not be proved or disproved for two weeks yet, however.

Miss Radigan's finger was split and the flesh sewed into place over the nasal passage, the finger bone forming the bridge of the nose. At the expiration of two weeks, when the surgeons believe the skin grafting will have proved successful, they will amputate the finger and from it form the new nose.

In the meantime, Miss Radigan is securely bound in plaster casts to prevent any interference with the healing process.

How's Your Town?

If it's a town with the push and the pride to want to get ahead the first thing to do is to make it a good place to live in.

Is it the kind of place the young fellows will stick to and be proud of and want to rear their families in?

If it is lacking in CORRECT SANITARY CONDITIONS it will never get over into the growing column.

Sanitary living is the right of the people. It is the just inheritance of the little child. It is the safeguard of the population.

If your town is a breeding place for sickness you and your neighbors will have to pay the price.

If the water supply is contaminated the health of your people is menaced.

If your lighting is inadequate your boys and girls will be the losers. Darkness isn't good for the morals any more than for the eyesight.

It's our business to better and boost the town that is ailing.

A Happy Bald Headed Man

Well-Known Politician Nearly Bald Now Has Heavy Growth of Hair.

Tells How He Did It.

A western politician, well known on account of his baldness and ready wit, surprised his friends by appearing with a heavy growth of hair; many of his old friends did not know him and others thought he had a wig. On being asked how he did it, he made the following statement: "I attribute the remarkable growth of my hair to the use of the following simple recipe which any lady or gentleman can mix at home: To a half pint of water add 1 oz. of bay rum, a mall box of Barbo Compound and ½ oz. of glycerine. Apply to the scalp two or three times a week with the finger tips. It not only promotes the growth of the hair, but removes dandruff, scalp humors and prevents the hair from falling out. It darkens streaked, faded, gray hair and makes the hair soft and glossy. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost and mixed at home."—(Adv.)

ON MILITANT WOMEN POLICE MADE CHARGE

Miss Annie Kenney, Suffragette Leader, Arrested After a Desperate Fight.

London, October 6.—Militant suffragettes, at the outset of their fall campaign today were deprived of one of their leaders, Miss Annie Kenney, who was arrested on the platform of a music hall during a meeting to inaugurate the renewal of hostilities.

Miss Kenney had opened her speech with the words, "I hear there are detectives in the 'wings,'" when a squad of policemen dashed out on the platform in flying wedge formation.

The women seated around Miss Kenney tried to get between her and the policemen, but the squad scattered the resisting workers about like nine pins.

As Miss Kenney was seized, yells of protest arose from the hundreds of women. There was a wild din accompanying the fierce struggle between women who endeavored to rescue Miss Kenney and the policemen.

In the street in front of the music hall the women fought and struggled furiously with the police, and their torn dresses and rips in the policemen's tunic testified to the fierceness of the scrimmmage.

One of the women threw herself in front of the wheels of the cab in which Miss Kenney had been placed. Others attempted to climb through the windows and the shrieking militants had to be pulled off by main force.

Two men, one of them a clergyman, and seven women were arrested.

Before the adjournment of the suffragettes' meeting two hats and a walking cane which had been captured from the detectives by the women were put up to auction. The bidding was lively. The hats brought $25 each and the cane $12.50.

HIS 19 MURDERS PRODUCT OF MIND CRAZED BY OPIUM

KILLED TANGO DANCER; OTHER MURDERS MYTHS

Spencer Has Been Addicted to Use of Opium for Years and His Gruesome Story Was Born of Drug.

Chicago, October 6.—As one after another of the "murders" confessed by Henry Spencer were disproved today, the police practically were convinced that while he was the murderer of Mrs. Mildred Allison Rexroat, the remainder of his monstrous story was mostly fiction, engendered in a drug-crazed mind.

Spencer is addicted to the opium habit, a symptom of which is grotesque imagination. Several years ago the police learned that while he was in prison at Joliet on a charge of larceny the authorities regarded him as mentally defective. He told fellow prisoners of having committed several murders.

Dispatches from Detroit, Delavan Lake, Wis., and Goshen, N. Y., further shook official faith in the confessions. Investigations at these points, while not absolutely disproving Spencer's statements, indicated there was little likelihood that they were true.

Guilty of Only One Murder.

Of the nineteen murders Henry Spencer, slayer of Mrs. Mildred Allison Rexroat, swore he had committed, the police tonight, after investigating his alleged crime in various cities, were able to fix upon him only one murder, or possibly two.

Captain Halpin, chief of the detective bureau, announced his conviction that Spencer, in giving his long circumstantial confession of fiendish crime was a consummate falsifier.

Four of the murders he says he committed were perpetrated while Spencer was in the Illinois state penitentiary at Joliet. Of twelve of the alleged murders, the police in this and other cities have no record. In one case described by Spencer, police records show that a body was recovered but the detectives have as yet established no connection between Spencer and the crime.

"Except for possibly two murders, Spencer's weired story of killing people by hammering in their skulls and slinging their bodies in lakes seems a pure fabrication," said Captain Halpin tonight. "His imagination, stimulated by drugs poured out one of the most fantastic tales of murder that has ever come from a man whose mind is given to dreams of crime."

He Murdered Mrs. Rexroat.

Captain Halpin declared tonight that he has complete proof that Spencer murdered Mrs. Rexroat and is almost equally confident that he murdered Mrs. Annabel Wight, Mrs. Wight's house was robbed December 14, 1912, and was beaten so badly that she died in the county hospital July 13, 1913.

The body of Ida Oliver, recovered from the drainage canal, May 29, 1912, may correspond to the foreign woman whom Spencer said he lured along the canal and killed after nobbing her. Spencer was in the penitentiary when Policemen Pennell and Devine were killed August 11, 1902. He also was in prison in 1908 when Fannie Thompson was killed, and when Emmett McChesney was killed in September, 1911.

McChesney was slain in the rear of 2600 State street, and the murder was at first thought to correspond to the man Spencer said he killed under the south side elevated structure.

Denials were received today from police authorities in other cities mentioned by Spencer that many of the boasted crimes were committed.

Complete identification of Spencer as the murderer of Mrs. Rexroat came from several sources today, while at least two sections of his confession referring to the holdups and robberies were confirmed by visitors to the detective headquarters.

C. A. Goodwin, of Wheaton, Ill., identified Spencer as the man who had ridden with Mrs. Rexroat on the seat behind him from Chicago to Wayne, Ill., on the night Mrs. Rexroat was murdered.

As the Drawling Voice.

Spencer's voice was identified as the drawling voice that had called up Mrs. Johnstone, Mrs. Rexroat's landlady, and through her had made the engagement that led the dancing teacher to her death.

Captain Halpin said he probably would be able to prove that the death of Mrs. Wight was the work of Spencer, though there was a discrepancy of a month in the date mentioned by Spencer as the time he killed her and the police record of the attack on her.

Frank Cissel, owner of a saloon and rooming house near the Illinois Central station, whose saloon Spencer said he had robbed, confirmed that part of the confession today, as did Leo Baseblupoz, owner of a downtown restaurant, who was held up and robbed by Spencer.

In describing his murder of Mrs. Rexroat, Spencer said he met her last May, a few days after she had been divorced from Allison. He said he lured her to Wayne where he killed her, by telling her he had a dancing class for her to instruct out there.

"In the afternoon I went out to Wayne and looked over the ground," said Spencer. "I took along a hammer and I placed it beside a telephone pole, where it was subsequently found. Returning to Chicago, I called up Mrs. Rexroat, told her to meet me at 6 o'clock. She met me.

Talked of Love Affairs.

"She had a suit case with her and we walked a little while in the depot waiting for the 6:30 o'clock train. We talked about love affairs and marriage. I was talking to her about getting married. I told her I had a farm and that my father left me pretty well-to-do. There was not anything said about the diamonds. I saw the ring on her finger. She said 'This is what Rexroat gave me because I could not get any money out of him.' I said it was pretty nice.

"When we got off the car at Wayne we waited until the others passed by and then walked down the track. I told her we were going along the track because that was the entrance to the farm. We walked along until we got to the other side of the bridge, about 100 feet from the second telegraph pole. Then I turned around and pulled the gun out and when I was alongside of her I shot her. It was through her mouth and put through the back of her ear. I shot her once. We had not quarreled, only she was trying to work me, as she had Rexroat. She just fell over the track, where she was run over. I took the diamond ring and the suit case and walked back the same way to the depot."

On the way back to Chicago Spencer said he opened the suit case and threw the contents out of the car window.

To Check Up All Killings.

State's Attorney Charles W. Headley and Sheriff A. A. Kuhn, of Dupage county, in which the Rexroat murder was committed, today demanded that Spencer be turned over to them for trial. Captain Halpin would not surrender the man, however, and said he would hold him at least until he had checked up completely all the killings Spencer had boasted of committing in Chicago.

Spencer was subjected to a long examination today and toward night showed signs of exhaustion. He was returned to his cell and it was said that he would be allowed to rest all night without interruption.

Alienists are watching the man to ascertain to what extent, if any, drugs or congenital influences have affected his mind.

DEMPSEY HOTEL BUFFET IS CLOSED BY LEAGUE

Temporary Restraining Order Secured—Total of 43 Saloons Have Been Closed.

Macon, Ga., October 6.—(Special.)—The Macon Law Enforcement league today secured a temporary restraining order against the buffet of the new Hotel Dempsey to prevent the sale of intoxicating liquor. The buffet was immediately closed by the sheriff to await a hearing on a permanent injunction.

This makes a total of forty-three saloons which have been put out of business by the league and the remaining twenty-six will probably be closed within the next few days. All of the hotel barrooms have been closed.

Commend Kingman's Selection.

Macon, Ga., October 6.—(Special.)—The Macon chamber of commerce today adopted resolutions commending President Woodrow Wilson on his selection of Colonel Dan G. Kingman for chief of engineers, U. S. A. Copies of the resolutions will be mailed to President Wilson, Colonel Kingman and Georgia senators and representatives. Colonel Kingman has always taken a keen interest in the development of the Altamaha system of rivers and last year recommended that congress spend $600,000 on that system.

Meeting Postponed.

Macon, Ga., October 6.—(Special.)—The meeting of the executive committee of the state chamber of commerce, which was to have been held here today, was postponed until Wednesday, October 15, by President C. J. Haden, of Atlanta. This action was due to the absence of several of the committeemen from the state.

Style 11—$250

A New Style Kimball

We are offering a genuine Kimball Piano—one of the world's standard makes—in a new case design, at a price unheard of when its intrinsic musical value is considered.

On account of being made under the most favorable conditions, by the world's largest manufacturers of pianos, and sold direct, we are in a position to offer this high-grade instrument for such a nominal sum. With increased facilities for production means greater values for less money to the buyer. Really, a $400 value as compared to pianos of equal grade sold by dealers and agents.

We stake our reputation, representing over fifty years of piano manufacturing, on the musical merits of this instrument, tone quality and durability both considered. It has a wonderfully sweet and sympathetic tone. The style is semi-colonial in design, with plain panels.

We could reduce the cost of manufacture of this instrument, gloss over its short-comings, and sell it for less money, but we won't, because our reputation is at stake. We could charge more, but we couldn't give you an instrument with a better tone or greater durability. It is true that we have more expensive pianos, but the difference is largely in the case.

Cash, or convenient terms can be arranged.

ATLANTA'S WORST SCANDAL!

The Constitution exposes today the details of the worst municipal scandal in the history of the city.

Organized graft and organized crookedness both are bad enough.

Both are saintly compared with that municipal mismanagement which, with millions of borrowing capacity at its back, with numberless warnings sounding in its ears, has permitted the lives of thousands of school-tots, helpless to defend themselves, to be placed in jeopardy; has menaced the efficiency of the entire school system of Atlanta upon which the mental capacity of its citizens of tomorrow must depend.

That is the substance of our first-page story. Who is hit by it, is immaterial. That the sentiment of this community be pounded into action is imperative.

Here is the pith of the story:

The schools of Atlanta are crowded past the sanitary and hygienic danger line. In some instances the congestion is such that young children are being taught in a basement in close proximity to toilets. In others, the three youngest grades of the school carry from ten to forty per cent more than their normal capacity of pupils with the result that each day several cases of sickness is a daily occurrence. In many others the poverty of facilities is such that "instruction" degenerates into a burlesque.

The Constitution wholly exonerates Superintendent William M. Slaton and the board of education. For many months they have served notice of the impending danger and besought council for aid. That they are helpless in the face of a desperate situation, is not due to their lack of courage, their willingness to overwork themselves and their persistent demands for assistance.

Here are some of the high lights in the tragic story published elsewhere. It was gathered and written by one of the most experienced and conservative members of The Constitution's staff.

In Inman Park school three grades have, of necessity, been placed in the basement squarely opposite and near to the toilets. What do the parents of the city think of that? What does the board of health, the physicians, say? Yet this thing must continue, or the three grades be disbanded.

In the Highland school the rooms are 33 feet and 4 inches long; 19 feet and 1¾ inches wide; 12 feet and nine inches in heighth. In the first grade of this school, CONTAINING THE YOUNGEST CHILDREN THAT COME TO THE SCHOOL, BABES JUST OUT OF ARMS, ARE 84 PUPILS. IN THE SECOND GRADE, WHERE THEY ARE ONLY A YEAR OLDER, ARE 73 PUPILS. IN THE THIRD GRADE, WITH AN AVERAGE AGE OF 9 YEARS, THERE ARE 94 PUPILS. NONE OF THESE ROOMS IS SUPPOSED TO ACCOMMODATE MORE THAN 60 CHILDREN. EVEN THAT NUMBER WOULD OVERCROWD THESE LITTLE CUBBY HOLES.

The result of overtaxing the rooms, many ventilated on only one side, is that during the visit of The Constitution's representative FOUR SICK CHILDREN IN THIS THIRD GRADE HAD TO GO HOME. Read the details of how the others are taken care of. You will see disease and mental inefficiency crowd in at every angle.

At the school at the Exposition Cotton Mills, accommodating the children of the workers of the city, the children of parents striving against odds to advance them in life, pinching and sacrificing to give them an education, the conditions are pictured as deplorable. With the school on the Howell Mill Road, conditions are little better.

In the English-Commercial high school 700 young women of Atlanta are packed and jammed, forced to study under miserable handicaps and exposed to fire.

In the ninth ward there is no school at all. The schools adjacent are congested by the inevitable overflow.

"Barbarous" is the word used to describe the situation at the negro school at Pittsburg.

Last January, Superintendent Slaton and the board of education, after much pruning, asked council for $897,000 as a total budget with which to operate the schools and to forestall these conditions. The imminence of the need was then stressed on council. Council gave $513,000.

By the blessing of the Almighty, we have thus far enjoyed fairly decent autumn weather. Even with this advantage, sickness has been prevalent from these unspeakable conditions. What will it be if winter and closed windows come ravening down on these defenseless tots? Where will the standards of the system go if pupils acquire an "education" in a stuffy atmosphere and crowded so close they can hardly function mentally?

This scandal, bearing on the lives, the health and the efficiency of little children who cannot help themselves, is about the worst in Atlanta's history. We could put up with farcical government procedure, and with pinchpenny "economy" in other respects. It is intolerable when children are made the victims!

Despite Atlanta's mystic maze and "next door neighbor" government, RESPONSIBILITY MUST AND WILL BE LODGED FOR THIS OUTRAGE. Despite cries of "poverty," the outrage will be remedied. A city as rich and as enlightened as this one, a city with several million dollars borrowing capacity, WILL NOT SEE ITS CHILDREN SUBJECT TO THREAT OF DEATH AND DISABILITY WITHOUT FINDING RELIEF OR SCOURGING FROM PUBLIC LIFE THOSE WHO FAIL TO FIND RELIEF.

We've had enough gibbering and paltering and evasion!

The Constitution calls upon the PARENTS of Atlanta to PROTECT THEIR CHILDREN; it calls upon the mayor and council of Atlanta to take at once such steps as may be imperative to exculpate them from a share in a scandal that closely borders on municipal crime.

A GRADUAL EFFECT

The sound business sense of Oscar Underwood spoke in his warning to the American people not to wake up within the next few days expecting that the new tariff would have wrought a revolution in the cost of living. With President Wilson and Chairman Simmons, of the senate finance committee, Mr. Underwood has consistently played a fair game with the country. All three have steadfastly stated that the new tariff would eventually afford material relief. But, as set forth by Mr. Underwood, the effect will be gradual, not reaching the climax for several months.

Mr. Underwood's conclusion is based upon the premise that the economic changes forced upon manufacturers and importers under the new law will require some time for adjustment. The entire industrial machinery of the country is more or less affected by our tariff laws. That machinery cannot be speeded up here and slackened there in a moment. It is true that preparations looking to these ends have for some time been under way. But the execution of the changes themselves will require a longer interval.

The nation has already taken cognizance of these conditions. Not having been deceived by demagogic promise but having, on the other hand, been honestly taken into the confidence of democratic leaders, it knows what to expect and when to expect it. In this connection the straightforward course of the democrats shows in reproaching contrast to that of a few of the old-line republican standpatters. With the old Bourbon inability to forget or learn anything, they persist in their premature jeremiads. To much better advantage show those enlightened republicans in house and senate who have voted with the democrats on the tariff, thereby clinching their right to be considered as thoroughly responsive to the public sentiment that rules the nation today.

The revised tariff has 'em "scared up," and the higher up fellows can't say that they're holding their "ground."

---

Just From Georgia

By FRANK L. STANTON

When Father Has His Day.

Mr. Moore introduced today in the house of representatives a bill providing that:

"The first Sunday in June in each and every year hereafter be designated as Father's Day, upon which as an expression of sentiment corresponding to that of Mother's Day, the rose, irrespective of color, shall be regarded as the emblem."—News Item.

I.

The country says that Father counts for something after all!
The children—they've had all the days from far and far away,
But Father—toiling not for praise—is going to have his day!

II.

And turn their eyes to recognize the daddies of the land!
Of all the days of all the year, to think they've come to say:
"It's time he read his titles clear; the daddy 'll have his Day!"

III.

I reckon he'll look foolish-like at such a kindly touch,
An say: "Go 'long, an' change that song—I ain't done nothin' much!
To make the run from sun to sun, an' still to rear the race,
And yet 'lay low'—why, folks, you know, that's just a daddy's place!"

IV.

"A whole bright day for Father? How'll he get away with it?"
To sit enthroned—an idle king, applauded of the town,
And not be told to mow the lawn, or take the stovepipe down!

V.

Ain't it an age of wonders! But there's charity to spare,
And Father 'll get his mite at last—God bless his graying hair!
And Mother 'll pin a rose on—like she did, so far away,
And tell him she's his sweetheart still—when Father has his day.

* * * * *

It's a wonderful thing—that Tariff,
Take it by field and town;
The prices on high
Tell the mountains goodby,
Even the comets are comin' down!

Called the Teacher Down.

"We're often 'called down' by the parents of pupils," said a rural school teacher, "but this letter is unique among the prospects from the home-folks:

"You as much as say that you 'can't beat spellin' into my boy's head,' and rite here I'll say plain that it's becos you dunno nuthin' 'bout spellin' 'cordin to how it's spelt now. My boy spels just like Mister Carnerger—him that give us the Liberry, for wich we had to put up as much as he put up. What's the use in spelin' Long if you kin git ter it Short? That's how my boy spels—he spells Short; he doan't take awl day to go aroun' a Word's corner. Whilst you air spelin' a word my boy could go in swimmin' an' come out an untie his cloas from a Knot! You air too long-took to teech school; you orter to be a lawyer. My boy spels to suit me; his spelin' is new, an' not old."

A Riley Biographical Editor.

James Whitcomb Riley will celebrate his birthday Tuesday, October 7, and on that day the Bobbs-Merrill company expect to have ready the first complete collection of his works ever published, which will be known as "The Biographical Edition of the Complete Works of James Whitcomb Riley." The publishers believe that they have "recovered all the compositions of the famous poet still in existence," and this they consider "a thoroughly personal edition" of Riley's works.

Wants a Home Excuse.

"Our congressman writes that he wants to come home," says a Georgia exchange, "but that he can't get up a good excuse, so he wants us to get a lecture date for him, so's he can spring it on 'em as a reason for his leaving. We don't know whether the people want a lecture from him or not, being pretty well tired of the way he's been throwin' fits and beating hot air since he's been there; but as he's willing to lecture free, and people can leave when they want to, it oughtn't to be much trouble to rent a hall for one night and let his voice fill it. So we hope it can be done."

CUTTING DOWN THE COST

"This month's Beldames' Budget has a most encouraging article about the cost of living," said Mrs. Jamesworthy. "It says that when the new tariff law goes into effect the price of most necessaries will be sensibly lowered, and so the cost of living should be reduced."

"And, I suppose," remarked Jamesworthy, "that what the Beldames' Budget says is final. It speaks with the tongues of men and angels. All other seers and soothsayers are fallible, but when the editor of the Beldames' Budget puts on his mantle of Elijah, we begin to realize what wisdom is like when it has the bark on. About subject it treats of, but no pent-up Utica a million women read that publication every month and accept it as the last word on any contracts my powers, Mrs. Jamesworthy, and I refuse to burn joss sticks at the shrine of the Beldames' Budget.

"Admitting for the sake of argument that the new tariff law will reduce the price of some of the necessaries of life, what difference will that make to us? Our wives do the shopping in this country, and they never buy necessaries. If we could get the necessaries of life free, the cost of living would remain where it is, for the women would go ahead buying junk just the same. If we only bought the things we need, there would be no trouble whatever, and we'd all have pieces of eight in the building and loan.

"Junk calls for junk, and the buying of unnecessary things is an endless chain. Well do I remember, Mrs. Jamesworthy, when you informed me one day last spring that you had discovered the dearest, cutest little mahogany footstool in a second-hand store, on one of the back streets. And it was such a bargain that you greatly feared somebody would snap it up before you could save enough money to buy it. I was in a general, expansive mood that day, having cleared a few bones in a real estate deal, so I told you to go and get your mahogany footstool, although, as I pointed out, a lone piece of furniture of that character and material would look silly surrounded by articles of furniture which didn't match it. But you assured me that mahogany was different. It didn't have to match anything else. It would mingle freely with oak or elm or walnut, and retain its dignity.

"So you bought your footstool, and a cheap and disreputable looking affair it was. I remember that I fell over it while hunting my hat in the dark, and ruined my nose against a corner of the piano. Well, in a week or two you began beaming around again, in your sunshiny way, and I knew you wanted me to loosen up for something else, and, of course, you did. You had made another great discovery in a second-hand store. Purely by accident you had stumbled over a beautiful mahogany chair, that used to belong to Marie Antoinette or Mrs. Gunness or some other great historical character. This chair was a dead match for the footstool, and it was a crime to keep the two apart. Anybody would tell me, you said, that mahogany is an investment, not a luxury. It increases in value all the time, and the demand for it is frantic.

"You talked about that mahogany chair in your sleep as well as when awake, for two weeks or so, and I saw that you would go into a decline unless you had it, so I went into my strongbox again, and dug up the price. I never saw such a delirious chair, Mrs. Jamesworthy. If Marie Antoinette had to sit in such a contrivance, she must have considered it a great relief to go to the guillotine. A human being would have to be specially constructed in order to sit in that chair with comfort. It occupies more space than three ordinary chairs and every time I go near it I bruise a shin against it. But I suffered in silence, you seemed to get so much comfort from your investment.

"Then you began hinting around that you knew where you could buy the most wonderful mahogany table, with an old-fashioned folding top. It was a table that belonged to Louis XIV in his palmy days. It was the all-firedest table! But there I drew the line, Mrs. Jamesworthy. I saw that you would be discovering a mahogany cookstove if I didn't call a halt, so I called it. And this unpleasant recital illustrates the fact that the price of necessaries has nothing to do with the cost of living."

Snapdragon Fairies.

(From The Indianapolis News.)

They had been telling us for ever so long that the fairies we're dead. Of course we had not believed it. Nobody ever sees fairies any more, and we hear little about them, but we believed in them just the same, and that meant, of course, that we did not believe that they were dead.

There are some things, you see, that we could never account for at all if it were not for fairies. In fact, the morning we found the fairy graveyard was a regular fairy morning. Nobody would have suspected that the fairies were dead that day. We thought that they had been busy all the night before getting ready for it. The whole world seemed to have been made over, and we felt that nobody but the fairies could have done it. It was not quite finished when we first got up and we gave the fairies credit for being clever enough to cover things with a fog until all was ready. At any rate there was a fog at first, and when it was gone the sun shone out of a gay sky on a gayer earth. The woods in the distance were softly brilliant, but the leaves against the window were flasing red and yellow. The tall grasses across the fields were copper, and the air itself was gold. Of course, we thought it was the fairies, and a very good job, too.

Then at the side of the porch, where the snapdragons had blossomed, we came across the graveyard. It was not really a graveyard—there were no graves. There was row after row of tiny, hideous skulls swinging from little sticks. They were ugly, flat-headed, long-chinned skulls, every one having a ridiculous long nose with a snaky thing sticking out of it. The fairies must have been dead for ever so long. It was so terrible to think that fairies should look like those grinny little skulls that somebody suggested that they might be bad fairies or goblins. That was very well to talk about, but we could never feel sure and every time anybody said that the fairies were dead we would remember those rows of swinging skulls.

"Snapdragon seeds," you say? And those were the pods? Well, if that is the case the fairies certainly are not dead. Nobody but the fairies would ever have thought of putting seeds up in things like those.

The World's Mysteries

WHO INSTIGATED ASSASSINATION OF BUCKINGHAM?

George Villiers, the Duke of Buckingham, was a great favorite at the court of James I and also Charles I of England. He was one of the leaders of the romantic type of young courtiers who held sway at the English court during the early part of the seventeenth century and his adventures have been the subject of many interesting stories. At eighteen he was sent to France, where he remained for three years, returned with such polished manners and so excellent a personality that James heaped all sorts of honors upon him.

Through the great confidence in which he was held he was entrusted with a number of important missions, few of which ever proved successful. When he was thirty-two years of age he was sent to France as proxy for Charles I to marry the Princess Henrietta Marie, and the year following, after the failure of the Cadix expedition, he was impeached, but was saved through the favor of the king. This gave him assurance, and he finally took upon himself the conduct of a war with France, but his expedition in aid of the Rochelles proved an entire failure.

In the meantime the revolt against him and the principles he represented was becoming more formidable; the petition of rights was carried despite the duke's exertions, and he was again protected from impeachment only by the king's prorogation of parliament.

While this struggle over the petition was going on, the popular hatred of Buckingham showed itself in a brutal manner. In the streets of London the duke's physician, Dr. Lambe, was set upon by the mob and called a witch, a devil and the duke's conjuror, and absolutely beaten to death. The council set inquiries on foot, but no individual was brought before it, and the rhyme went from mouth to mouth:—

The Duke shall die like Doctor Lambe."

Charles was shocked and grieved. He took his friend in his own coach through London to see the ten ships which were being prepared at Deptford for the relief of Rochelle. It was reported that he was heard to say: "George, there are some that wish that both these and thou might perish. But care not thou for them. We will both perish together if thou dost."

There must have been something strangely attractive about the man who won and kept the hearts of four personages so dissimilar as James and Charles of England, Anne of Austria, and William Land. But in the meantime Rochelle held out. One attempt to relieve the beleagured town had failed Buckingham was to command in person the armament now in preparation for another attempt. The fleet was at Portsmouth and Buckingham went down hither in high spirits to take command. But his ecstacy was not to be for long. There were mighty men of the empire who were plotting against him, and while he did not apparently realize it, or at least, gave no heed to the storm that was brewing against him, he went right into a conspiracy against him as if sailing into a summer sea.

On the 23d of August Buckingham rose and cut a caper or two before the barber dealt with his moustache and lovelocks. Then he was about to sit down to breakfast with a number of captains, and as he arose he received letters which made him believe that Rochelle had been relieved.

He said he must tell the king instantly, but Soubise and the other refugees did not believe a word of it, and there was a great deal of disputing and gesticulating between them. He crossed a lobby, followed by the eager Frenchmen and halted to take leave of an officer, Sir Thomas Fryer. Just at this moment, over the shoulder of this gentleman as he bowed, a knife was thrust into his breast.

There was an effort to withdraw it; a cry of "the villain" and the great duke, at 36 years, was dead. There was a conspiracy to get rid of Buckingham. At first the attendants thought the blow came from one of the noisy Frenchmen, and were falling on them.

They were mistaken, however, for the servants had seen the deed committed. They ran after the assassin, who was arrested and proved to be one John Felton, a soldier and a man of good family. He was used as the tool by the conspirators, for his mind had become apparently unhinged through wrongs he believed he had suffered at the hands of Buckingham. The real murderers back of the assassination were never apprehended and Charles was glad to let the subject drop when he realized how unpopular was his favorite, and that he himself was very likely to be the next to suffer on account of his friendship for the detested Buckingham.

MRS. FRANK DEVOTED TO HUSBAND, DECLARES MISS FANNIE PICARD

Miss Fannie Picard, a well known young lady of this city and prominently identified with the Hebrew element to which she belongs and as well to the Gentiles, among whom she is most highly esteemed, writes the following in reference of Mrs. Leo M. Frank and the charge that when her husband was first incarcerated she had not been solicitous of his welfare while in jail:

Editor Constitution: One of the false impressions about the recent trial and conviction of Leo M. Frank and one that came to my knowledge from hearing it discussed on the cars and among my friends of the Georgia legislature, when Leo M. Frank was first held on suspicion, and after his apprehension—was that his wife, to whom he is as the salt of the earth—did not cling to him. This impression took root from the report that Mrs. Frank did not go to see him for two weeks after he was placed in the custody of Fulton county jail, while the truth of the matter is that when Leo M. Frank was taken to the police station on Tuesday morning after the murder, his wife went down to the police station accompanied by her father and her two brothers-in-law, and begged the officials to be permitted to see her husband. This can be proven by some hundred or more persons who were around the police station at the time, as well as by the newspaper correspondents, camera men, etc.

For the time he was held at police barracks from Tuesday until Thursday, she was not permitted to see him, but was allowed to phone him, and she did phone him a number of times each day. When he was taken to the jail, she could have seen him, but her husband, Leo M. Frank, Rabbi David Marx, and the other male members of her family kept her from doing so. Think if such a thing would happen to you husband devoted to your wife—would you want that wife to see you in a hard, cold cell of a jail? Her husband could not bear the thought and begged her, in most loving messages, to have patience for a few days as right would and must prevail and he would be out as soon as his alibi could be given, which he knew to be a true one and felt no doubt whatever that it would be immediately proven and accepted.

Since his incarceration, after his indictment by the grand jury, his wife has been untiring in love and devotion. As far as she was allowed, he has felt her care for him in the matter of sending him his daily meals, attending to his clothing and any other matters whereby she could relieve his enforced imprisonment.

She has been his stenographer, going daily to the jail and taking dictation from him for hours, and has gotten out a volume of work for him, as she was his stenographer on numerous times ever since he has been connected with the pencil company, and has often gone down on Saturday afternoons when he has his heaviest work to do and assisted him in getting the work done.

She claims she has gained her strength to bear this time of trial from his wonderful strength and endurance—and prays to God that He will let His light shine on all who have taken a wrong view and clear her husband, not only of the charge against him, but restore his good name and character to the world, so that he can again walk amongst his fellow-men upright in their belief in him.

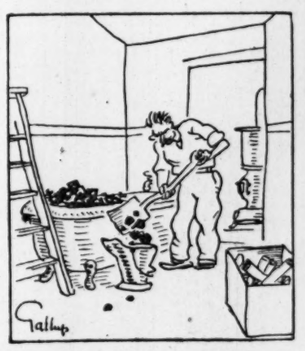

MISS FANNIE PICARD.

BATH TUBS

By GEORGE FITCH,
Author of "At Good Old Siwash"

A bath tub is a large receptacle, capable of holding fifty gallons of water, a human being and a cake of soap. Its mission is to keep one-third of humanity clean, the other two-thirds humble.

The bath tub is the chief landmark of civilization. Wherever it can be found in profusion and is not used for a coal bin or garbage receptacle, there civilization reigns and man has a strange hold on the culture of the day. A land may be full of wonderous marble palaces and temples that make the congressional library look like an overgrown dog house, but if it has no bath tubs it is a failure and missionaries flock to it in great numbers.

"Its mission is to keep one-third of humanity clean and the other two-thirds humble."

In England the bathtub is the millstone of the civilized man. He does not wear it around his neck, but he folds it up and lugs it painfully around the world in his baggage. The bath tub has made great strides in England, but is still a curiosity in many hotels. If we peruse English literature the chief thing which we learn is the fact that the upper class Englishman cannot live without his morning bath. But if we peruse England from a plumbing standpoint we also discover that he apparently does the bathing for the entire island.

In America the bath tub has made great strides, and is now more common than the piano and the mail order catalogue. The bath tub is the first rung of the ladder by which the American rises to prosperity. After having acquired a bath room he buys a piano on the installment plan. Then he joins a club and swarms gallantly upward into the automobile class. The bath tubs of America keep the nation clean at a very small expense. For two cents a day an American can soak himself for half an hour each morning and can play the fascinating game known as chasing the soap. However, if he goes to the American hotel he discovers that baths are much higher in price. It costs him a dollar, and many travelers have been so irritated by this time they have gone out and stood in the dusty automobile road for an hour each afternoon in order to get their money's worth when they return to the hotel.

It is now the ambition of the American citizen to own as many bath tubs as possible and the magnate who has just built a house in which there are 57 bath tubs for the use of himself, wife and little son is gazed upon with awe and admiration on all sides.

THE OPTIMIST'S CLUB

By George Matthew Adams

A young man was about to drive his Golf Ball across a very wide and hazardous pond, partly hidden between two high hills—a drive that was extremely difficult, even for the most expert. Just before the drive, one of his companions suggested that he had better use a ball that did not sink instead of one he was about to play which was a "sinker." "But it isn't going to get a chance to sink," replied the young man. And it didn't! The young man was an Active Member of The Optimist's Club.

Remember that while you are looking upon the Bright side of things you can't see the Dark side.

Every community has its Optimist Club. And the Active Members are those whose names and money and heart and enthusiasm are always connected with the best that is going on. They are the ones who keep their town streets clean and in right shape, who build and equip the most efficient schools for their children, who take pride in their ability to be helpful to the entire town, though they get nothing in return but the satisfaction of having performed rightly.

Every time you dispel a Grouch or stir up a Smile on the face of someone else, you invite a new member into The Optimist's Club.

Spend a portion—if not all—of each day in seeking out new members for The Optimist's Club. There are no Associate members. Each Candidate must be for Active membership. A few of the essential qualifications are these: A Cheerful, yet "never-say-die" Spirit, the ability to imagine a beautiful Sun beyond very dark Clouds, and the kind of Courage that keeps a man right on fighting, patiently, though he may have already lost through sixty-eight defeats.

Yes, YOU are eligible for membership in The Optimist's Club. You are elected the very day you hand in your name.

ALL SALE OF BEER MAY BE OUTLAWED

Saloons' Futur eDepends on the Action of the Supreme Court in Cases Now Being Argued.

With the opening of the October term of the supreme court yesterday, there began the argument of two cases which, if the higher court sustains the actions of the court below, will result in outlawing the sale of beer in Georgia and in confining the locker clubs within far narrower restrictions than they have operated under heretofore.

Both cases come up under that section of the prohibition law which permits any citizen to enjoin any "blind tiger" as a public nuisance. Under this law, Judge Henry A. Mathews, of the Macon circuit, has already issued injunctions closing about two-thirds of the saloons in Macon. His orders prohibit them not only from selling whisky, which witnesses had testified they had been doing, but also beer or any other malt drink of an intoxicating character in the future.

Macon Saloon Men Enjoined.

The saloonkeepers against whom injunctions have been issued are, under the court's order, deprived of their licenses and also restrained from selling intoxicating malt drinks in the employ of another.

It is the first time since the prohibition law has been in effect that the question has been put squarely up to the courts to determine whether or not the sale of beer is illegal, and whether beer and other malt drinks may be sold under the so-called "near-beer" licenses.

The first case which was argued Monday was brought by C. L. Wilkerson, president of the Law Enforcement league, of Rome, against Bart Watkins and the members of the Hill City club. The superior court of Floyd county granted an injunction against the club on the ground that liquors were being sold in it at a profit and that it was therefore a "blind tiger," in violation of the prohibition law.

The members of the club deny that liquors were dispensed at a profit, pleading that they were furnished to members on their order at actual cost and that the service fee of 2 1-2 cents per drink which was charged, was simply used to pay the expenses of the club.

Seaborn Wright argued the case at length in behalf of the Law Enforcement league, claiming that the service fee collected was in violation of law, and he further asks the court to define just what a locker club may do in the dispensing of liquors, so that there may be no misunderstanding about the law in future.

May Knock Out Locker Clubs.

He claims that, if the supreme court will affirm this case, it will be impossible for locker clubs to evade the law in future. They will either have to change their methods entirely of dispensing drinks, or they will have to go out of business.

The Macon case, on which the future sale of beer in this state will depend, is brought before the court by Ed Cassidy, plaintiff in error, who was enjoined from selling beer and other intoxicating drinks by Judge Mathews on the petition of a number of Macon citizens.

John R. Cooper, Sam Hunter and Joe Hill Hall will argue the case on behalf of the former saloonkeeper, while R. D. Feagin will appear for the petitioners.

The public in those cities in which so-called near-beer is now dispensed will await with great interest the decision of the court in these two cases.

COUNCIL SUSTAINS WOODWARD'S VETO

No Such Thing as "Lateral Sewer Fund," He Declares in His Message.

Mayor Woodward's veto of the resolution offered by the sewer committee and which provided for taking $3,500 from the "lateral sewer" fund to extend the Druid Hills trunk sewer about 1,000 feet, was sustained by council yesterday afternoon.

Mayor Woodward's veto message called the attention of council to the fact that there is no such fund as a "lateral sewer" fund, and he gave that as his reason for refusing to approve the resolution. The mayor said, however, that he was in favor of the work which the resolution comprehended, and intimated that when the matter, if drawn up in proper legal form, he will approve.

Veto Is Sustained.

The veto was not voted on. Alderman James R. Nutting's motion to refer to the finance committeee for action was carried, and the veto thereby was practically sustained.

Whitehall street merchants offered a petition to council asking that the regrading of that street be delayed until after the Christmas holidays. The petition was referred to the street committee.

In accordance with the charter amendment which limits the recorder to imposing a fine of not more than $200, Alderman Nutting offered an ordinance which makes the amendment effective. The ordinance was adopted.

Council approved the ordinance placing Captain John Joyner, of the police department, on pension.

Councilman Colcord's ordinance abolishing the rank of roundsmen in the police department and making the incumbents sergeants with an increase of $5 a month in pay was adopted.

Park Commissioner Young's public comfort project was referred to the finance committee. Plans were offered to council through Councilman Sam Shepard. The station will cost about $9,000. It is to be located over the Whitehall street viaduct.

Councilman Ashley, of the fourth ward, offered his ordinance to regulate the construction of toilets in all places where a number of persons are employed. It provides for separate toilets for men and women, whites and blacks, and restricts the use of one toilet to twenty persons only. In other words, a separate toilet must be provided fo. every twenty employees. The ordinance was referred to the health board.

Franchise Is Renewed.

The franchise granted to the Atlanta Carolina Railway company, which expired on October 1, was extended to October 1, 1914.

Dr. J. M. Pearce was elected a member of the board of education from the fifth ward to succeed Dr. G. Y. Pearce, and R. I. Hilley was elected a member of the water board to succeed H. H. Norman, who resigned from the fifth ward.

The appointment of an election manager in the second ward to succeed Hollis Boynton, resigned, was postponed.

J. C. Little was elected manager of election in the third ward to succeed J. C. Little.

Bond Commissioner Terrell's place as a member from the fifth was filled by the appointment of B. F. Byfield.

WOMAN CHLOROFORMED AND ROBBED OF $1.50

Mrs. W. F. Lampkin Is Bound and Gagged by Burglars.

A squad of star detectives of the headquarters bureau are working upon one of the city's boldest robberies, which occurred late Sunday night, when Mrs. W. F. Lampkin was chloroformed, bound and gagged in her home at 363 Luckie street by intruders she did not see.

Only $1.50 and several pair of silk hose were obtained. A valuable gold watch and a large sum of money were overlocked by the burglars, who evidently became frightened and hurried away. Mrs. Lampkin suffered from a nervous shock and was almost prostrate throughout Monday.

The case was not reported at headquarters until Monday morning, giving the robbers ample time to leave town, if such they did. Mrs. Lampkin was sleeping in her bedroom shortly before midnight Sunday. Suddenly she was awakened by the realization that someone was standing beside the bed.

Suddenly she felt a moist cloth pressed to her nostrils. She fainted instantly, recovering an hour or so later, when she alarmed the household. A gag was put ineffectively between her teeth—through which she managed to scream—and her hands had been bound behind her.

No clue has yet been found.

FEDERAL APPEALS COURT NOW MEETING IN CITY

The United States circuit court of appeals for the fifth judicial circuit, made up of Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas, opened its 1913 fall session in the circuit court rooms, third floor of the Atlanta federal building, yesterday morning, with Don A. Pardee, of Atlanta; D. D. Shelby, of Huntsville, long-time members of that court, and Rufus E. Foster, of New Orleans, a federal judge sitting for Hon. A. P. McCormick, of Dallas, Texas, third member of the circuit court for the fifth circuit, presiding. Judge McCormick's absence from the Atlanta session of the court is due to illness.

The only case of local interest shown on the docket for the first day is that of M. C. Kiser compan et al. v. the Georgia Cotton Oil company et al. The case comes from the southern district of Georgia because of a ruling by Judge Speer naming as trustee in the litigation, then before him, the choice of the minority of the litigants. The case was argued Monday and is now under consideration by the judges sitting.

The Pitts Banking company v. Cook Clayton, as trustee of the estate of Gray Chandler, bankrupt, and the National Bank of Athens v. F. C. Shackelford, trustee in bankruptcy for J. N. Webb, were also argued and submitted, while the fourth case docketed for the day, E. J. Peacock, Jr., against the Third National Bank of Fitzgerald et al., was passed for the first day's session.

ATLANTA HAS THE EDGE FOR GOOD ROADS MEET

Atlanta has the 1914 road congress "cinched."

That is the opinion of Fred Houser, secretary of the Atlanta convention bureau, who returned Monday night from the American road congress at Detroit.

That the road congress will come south next year, says Mr. Houser, is already a settled fact, but the selection of the city is left up to the executive committee, which will probably do so some time within the next two months.

"The congress," says Mr. Houser, "will go either to Atlanta or New Orleans, and Atlanta has the edge on New Orleans. If the convention had selected its next meeting place, there is no doubt that Atlanta would have been its choice. As it is, I believe that it is all over but the shouting. I expect the executive committee to send that convention here."

AGAIN UNCLE HENRY IS JOKED ABOUT JOB

Looked for While Like He Might Lose Out to Reporter, But it Proved a Josh.

Few Atlantans remember when Henry M. Wood or "Uncle Henry," as the commissioners and his other friends know him, was not clerk of the board of county commissioners, but Monday morning he had to stand for the usual joke that has happened every two years for the past fourteen.

As the board started to adjourn Mr. Wood reminded them that the term of the clerk had expired and that they would have to elect a new one. Somebody was on the point of moving to re-elect Mr. Wood when Commissioner S. B. Turman began to smile. His eyes roved around the room and lighted on The Constitution reported.

"I move we elect The Constitution man to the job," he said.

"I second he motion," Colonel Clifford L. Anderson replied, before the words were hardly out of his colleague's mouth. Chairman Shelby Smith remarked loud enough for Mr. Wood to hear that he would vote for The Constitution man. Commissioners Tull C. Waters and W. Tom Winn, more recently chosen members of the board appeared rather doubtful, but it was three to two against the present clerk.

Then Mr. Turman discovered that The Constitution had not provided its reporter with cigars and promptly withdrew his motion and moved as a substitute that the office of clerk be abolished. Every commissioner voiced that sentiment, the younger members having caught on.

Mr. Wood, however, is today re-elected for the usual two years. Every man voted for him and nobody thought of really voting for anyone else.

"Two years ago," said the clerk afterwards, "they put up aa fictitious name and duly elected 'it.' I wasn't worried this time, but I was certainly 'on the go' that time."

HEROIC EFFORTS ARE BEING MADE TO SAVE BOY HIT WITH A STICK

While he lies at the point of death, a victim of a peculiar accident, heroic efforts are being made to save the life of Prescott Price, a 12-year-old lad who was injured Friday afternoon while playing with a companion. A stick, thrown javelinwise, penetrated the boy's neck, entering the vertebrae.

He was carried to a local sanitarium, and it is not thought he will live. A number of the city's most expert surgeons have become interested in the case, and are doing all in their power to prolong life.

Prescott is a son of W. P. Price, who lives at 147 Peeples street, West End. The boy who inflicted the injury is Alex Acsetto, son of a city fireman, who lives at 151 Oak street, near the Price home.

LADIES MUST SPEAK TO GET FLAG RAISING

Provided that the members of the Daughters of the American Revolution will agree to make the speeches at the formal flag raising a Georgia state flag will fly over the new courthouse.

The matter was favorably voted upon Monday at the meeting of the county board, when Mrs. R. P. Brooks, of the Piedmont chapter, requested it in writing. It was Commissioner Clifford L. Anderson who tacked on the amendment that the ladies make speeches upon that occasion. He said he wanted to hear the ladies speak.

COLLEGE OF PHARMACY OPEN FOR 23D YEAR

The Atlanta College of Pharmacy opened for its twenty-third year Monday morning with an enrollment of more than 150 students. The opening exercises were held in the school's new quarters at 255 Courtland street, with President George F. Paine as the principal speaker.

Dr. Paine states that the outlook for this year is very bright, and said that the school is the largest and best of its kind in the south. The faculty has been strengthened for this term and the most successful year in the history of the school is confidently expected.

BIG MILK MEETING WILL BE CONDUCTED TONIGHT

Addresses Will Be Made by Experts at Gathering at Taft Hall.

A mammoth milk meeting will be held in Taft hall, at the auditorium armory, tonight under the auspices of the state department of agriculture, which will have the co-operation of the chamber of commerce committee on milk conditions.

The object of this meeting is to aid in the campaign for purer milk in Atlanta. Scientists who have made a close study of the proper production and marketing of milk and who are thoroughly conversant with the situation in Fulton county will address the meeting. These lectures will be illustrated by stereoptican slides.

Wilmer L. Moore, president of the Atlanta chamber of commerce, will preside over the meeting and will introduce the speakers.

J. D. Price, state commissioner of agriculture; Dr. R. E. Stallings, state chemist; Dr. Kenneth N. Atkins, state bacteriologist; Dr. Peter F. Bahnson, state veterinarian.

The Federation of Women's clubs, the Mothers' congress, the Atlanta Nurses' association, and other organizations will be represented.

A large number of members of the chamber of commerce will be present, and the public generally are cordially invited.

NO MONEY FOR NEWT

Frank Witness Will Not Be Paid by Fulton County.

A number of claims were presented before the county commissioners Monday. Newt Lee was refused payment for his time spent in jail when he was held as an important witness in the Leo Frank case. Commissioner Clifford L. Anderson held that legally the county could not pay him.

L. O. Turner, a juror in the Camp murder case, who had to call in Dr. Virgil Cook last fall while tied up on the jury, was denied $4 which the physician charged for his services. The same reason was given as in the Newt Lee case.

The commissioners agreed to grade the property of Mrs. V. Clower and Mrs. C. L. Dennis, on D'Alvigney street, where the street grade was recently lowered. Mrs. Clower will also receive a small sum as damages, and retaining walls will be built in each place.

P. A. Cook, of 301 East Georgia avenue, was voted the sum of $1.90 to renumerate him for a window pane lost in a peculiar accident. When the county was grading that avenue a rock caught in the wheels of one of the big trucks and was thrown off and landed against the glass, smashing it.

Henry Wynn, a convict, asked, through his attorney, C. D. Maddox, remuneration for an accident to his right foot which occurred while he was a convict on June 24. He stated that he was oiling a road engine when the engineer started it and ran over his foot, crippling him for life. The matter was referred to the public works committee.

MRS. S. A. HOLBROOK DIES AT HOME OF SON

Mrs. S. A. Holbrook, of Calhoun, Ga., aged 76 years, died at the home of her son, Dr. W. H. Holbrook, 217 North Jackson street, early Sunday morning. Mrs. Holbrook was one of the best known and popular women in her community, and had, by her gentle, lovable disposition and philanthropy, endeared herself to a large circle of warm friends who will mourn her loss.

Mrs. Holbrook is survived by six daughters: Mrs. W. S. Childs, of Calhoun; Mrs. H. M. Thomas, of Calhoun; Mrs. W. J. Davis, of Vavcnia, Ga.; Mrs. H. B. Wilson, of Ragland, Ala.; Mrs. J. W. Keene, of Benevolence, Ga., and Mrs. U. D. Nichols, of Birmingham, and one son, Dr. W. H. Holbrook. Her body was removed to Calhoun, Ga., Monday night, where the funeral services and interment will take place today.

WILL ACT THIS WEEK ON ROAD SUPERVISORS

On its assemblying yesterday morning, the time of the prison commission was so taken up with the hearing of clemency cases that it was found necessary to defer action in the matter of the appointment of road supervisors until later in the week.

The commission will set aside a day during which it will go thoroughly into the subject and some action will undoubtedly be taken in the matter before the end of the week, according to the announcement made by the commissioners.

Thank Their Friends.

Mrs. Will Warwick and sons wish to express deepest gratitude to their friends for their many acts of thoughtfulness and kindness, their expressions and lovely tokens of sympathy in their recent bereavement.

DALEY DOES NOT SEEK MUNICIPAL COURT JOB

But Well-Known Attorney May Run for Stone Mountain Circuit Judgeship.

Colonel Walter R. Daley, a well-known Atlanta attorney, living in that part of the city which is within the bounds of DeKalb county, is not a candidate for a place on the municipal court recently created by the legislature, according to his statement Monday night. However, he is considering the request of a number of his friends that he run for the judgeship of the Stone Mountain circuit, to which Solicitor General C. S. Reid was recently appointed to fill the unexpired term of Judge L. S. Roan, who is to resign in a short time to go to the court of appeals.

"I see in an afternoon paper the statement that I am one of the candidates for a place on the bench of the municipal courts created by the latest legislature," said Colonel Daley. "I am not a candidate for that bench and my name was used without my knowledge.

"Many friends, however, have urged me to run for the judgeship of the Stone Mountain circuit, in which I have lived for the past 17 years, and I have that matter under consideration."

An election will be called at the end of the present term to choose a judge for this office.

COTTON FARMERS ASKED TO TRY FOR TROPHIES

Farmers of Georgia have been invited to participate in a contest for two sliver trophies to be awarded by the German kall works for the best and second best samples of cotton displayed at the first International Cotton exposition to be held in London, England, June 24 to July 9, 1914.

The contest is open to all the world and samples of fifty pounds and of ten pounds of ginned cotton may be substituted by each contestant. The terms of the competition will be furnished on application to the German kall works, and all samples must be in Royal Agricultural hall, London, carriage paid, not later than June 10, 1914.

Clean your liver and waste-clogged bowels tonight! Feel bully!

Get a 10-cent box now.

You're bilious! You have a throbbing sensation in your head, a bad taste in your mouth, your eyes burn, your skin is yellow, with dark rings under your eyes; your lips are parched. No wonder you feel ugly, mean and ill-tempered. Your system is full of bile not properly passed off, and what you need is a cleaning up inside. Don't continue being a bilious nuisance to yourself and those who love you, and don't resort to harsh physics that irritate and injure. Remember that most disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels are cured by morning with gentle, thorough Cascarets—they work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your liver and bowels clean; stomach sweet, and your head clear for months. Children love to take Cascarets, because they taste good and never gripe or sicken.

SOCIETY

Orchestra Matinee Threatens to Make Music the Fashion

The "Symphony Matinee," which in all cities fortunate enough to possess a symphony orchestra, is made a social occasion no less distinguished than it is important from the artistic viewpoint, will be the attraction at the Atlanta theater today at 4:30.

The Philharmonic orchestra, Mortiner Wilson conducting, will give the first concert of a season which the Atlanta Musical association proposes to make significant in Atlanta's whole musical future.

Already the orchestra has "put Atlanta on the musical map," and what is more important, it is growing in the local appreciation of what its direct value is to Atlanta herself.

Every element of Atlanta people is represented on the membership and guarantee list. The most progressive colleges and private teachers are sending their pupils to the concerts.

And furthermore, they are becoming the fashion. Mrs. John M. Slaton, president of the association, announces that tickets will be on sale up to 1 o'clock at Cleveland-Manning Piano company. After 1 at the Atlanta theater box office.

Seymour-Jackson.

The wedding of Miss Marie Seymour and Mr. Lewis Rhodes Jackson, of Macon, will take place on the evening of October 18, at 6:30, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Nichols Seymour, on East Fourth street. Mrs. T. M. McClellan, of Birmingham, will be matron of honor and Miss Caroline Seymour, the young sister of the bride, will be maid of honor, and Mr. William Pope Fleming, of Macon, will be best man. Little Miss Dorothy Harper and Master Randolph McClellan, of Birmingham, will be ribbon bearers. The bride will be given away by her father and Rev. H. M. DuBose will perform the ceremony. After a wedding trip to Florida, Mr. Jackson and his bride will go to house keeping in Macon.

For Miss Andrews.

The wedding of Miss Sadye Andrews and Mr. Harry Hutcheson Johnson will be an interesting event of the month and will be precedented by much entertaining. Miss Mary Griffith's bridge party yesterday afternoon was a bright occasion when twenty-eight guests were entertained at the East Lake Country club for Miss Andrews.

Miss Martha Lawshe will entertain at two tables of bridge tomorrow afternoon at her home on West Peachtree street.

Thursday afternoon Miss Mary Lucy Turner and Miss Annie Lou Padgett will give a bridge party at the home of the former on Ponce de Leon avenue, and Friday afternoon Miss Edna Mooney will entertain. Miss Gertrude Andrews will give a box party followed by tea at the Ansley.

Monday, the thirteenth, Miss Bernice Schussler gives a box party. Mrs. E. D. Ivey will entertain at a bridge party and linen shower Tuesday, the fourteenth, and on Wednesday evening the wedding party will be entertained at a buffet supper, after the rehearsal, by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Andrews.

Third Ward Civic Club.

The last out-door meeting of the season was held by the Third Ward Civic club on Friday afternoon in the bandstand at Grant park. A large number of ladies were present and unusual interest was manifested. Tince this occasion witnessed the awarding of the Truax prize for beautiful yards.

A committee consisting of Miss Katherine Smith and Mesdames N. H. Kirkpatrick and J. E. Gay, had been appointed to visit the homes entered in this contest. They found themselves unable to judge between the flower bed of Mrs. D. H. Floyd and the lawn vases of Mrs. George A. Clayton, so the prize was divided between these two ladies. Mrs. Floyd then generously donated her share of the prize money to the club treasury.

Mesdames J. Justis and A. S. Wilson were appointed delegates to state meeting of Women's clubs at Cuthbert. The flower committee had performed their work so well that they were retained as a committee to lay out a plan of study forthe winter months. The club expects to study domestic economy and civics, asking questions following a plan of study and endeavoring to lead the Third ward into a harmonious and sanitary "City Beautiful."

After business had been concluded, the ladies repaired to the pavillon as the guests of Drs. Herbert and Florence Truax. A congenial company gathered around the long table, which was beautifully decorated with autumn leaves and golden rod. The young ladies of the "Keep Busy" club assisted the hostess in serving a hot luncheon. Delightful music, bright speeches and merry laughter filled the hour and the reluctance with which the happy party lewt the park was typical of the regret with which they abandon the open-air meetings which have been so pleasant and profitable. The November meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. A. J. Moss, 156 Sydney street.

Important Call.

Mrs. H. H. Hale, president of the relief committee of the Anti-Tuberculosis association, wishes to call the attention of its members and their friends to the meeting of the "Pure Milk Movement" to be held at Taft hall, October 7, at 8 o'clock p. m.

The members are urged to attend this meeting, as pure milk is a strong factor in the upbuilding of health and efforts to stamp out tuberculosis would be strengthened by securing such milk. This meeting is of vital importance to Atlanta, Fulton county, and the state of Georgia. The instruction received there would enable us to more scientifically cope with the disease.

For Mrs. Matthews.

Mrs. Mary Howard Matthews has returned to the city from Fort Valley, where she was delightfully entertained as the guest of Judge and Mrs. H. A. Matthews, who gave a large reception Friday afternoon in her honor. The same evening Mrs. John Brown gave a beautiful farewell reception for Mrs. Matthews, who, after spending the summer in America, will return soon to France for the winter.

For Miss Seymour.

Among those who will entertain for Miss Marie Seymour, a bride-elect, will be Mrs. Charles Lehman, who will give a theater party, Mrs. Henry S. Hooper, Miss Lois Wilkinson, who will give a shower; Miss Annie Hill, Mrs. W. A. Freeman, and Mr. William Pope Fleming, of Macon, who will entertain the wedding party at dinner at the Georgian Terrace before the rehearsal for the wedding of Miss Seymour and Mr. L. R. Jackson, of Macon.

Donation Day at Home.

A committee, of which Mrs. J. J. Loyne is chairman, will be in charge all day to receive donations, and all visitors will be cordially welcomed.

D. A. R. Restaurant Opens.

The D. A. R. restaurant opens today in the "House that Jack Built," on Peachtree street, and all the ladies invite a general patronage for the very good dinners and lunches they will provide.

Dinner will include roast chicken and dressing, rice with gravy, cranberries, green peas, potato salad, pickles, hot rolls, ice cream, homemade cake, coffee and tea.

The officers and members of the Old Guard Battalion have issued invitations to their annual reception, October 10, 1913, at 9 o'clock, at the Capital City club.

Receiving Party.

Assisting in entertainment at the reception Miss Lyda Nash will give this afternoon in compliment to her guests, Miss Mary Agnes O'Donnell and Miss Marie Celeste Villere, of New Orleans, will be Misses Hargraves, Elise Brown, Margaret Duncan, Mildred Duncan, Mary Hines, Laura Cowles, Alice May Freeman and Sarah Lee Evans. Mrs. S. P. Stringfellow will serve tea and Mrs. Mary Howard Meador will receive with Miss Nash.

Mr. Baxter to Entertain.

Mr. Thomas W. Baxter will entertain at dinner this evening at his home on Third street, the recent members of the class of 1869, of the state university, who are Hon. H. H. Cabaniss, Hon. W. H. Fish, chief justice of the supreme court of Georgia; Judge W. R. Hammond, Hon. B. H. Hill, chief judge of the Georgia court of appeals; Mr. Samuel Barrett, Mr. J. P. White, Mr. Thomas W. Baxter. Besides the class members, Hon. Joseph H. Lumpkin, chief associate justice of the supreme court; Mr. A. H. Alfriend and Mr. R. A. Hemphill, who are old friends and associates of the class, will also be guests of the occasion.

ON THE WITNESS STAND PLAINTIFF DROPS DEAD

Sudden Death Comes to George T. Hannah in Warrenton Courtroom.

Warrenton, Ga., October 6.—(Special.)—George T. Hannah, a prominent merchant of Gibson, and about 50 years old, dropped dead in the courthouse here about noon. The superior court is in session, and Mr. Hannah was on the witness stand in a civic case, he being the plaintiff, and had answered only two or three questions when he fell over and died before a physician could reach him. Court adjourned for the day.

He was a prominent Mason and Woodman. The remains were carried this afternoon to Gibson for interment.

WOMEN'S DRESS SCORED BY BISHOP B. J. KEILEY

Savannah, Ga., October 6.—Right Rev. Benjamin J. Keiley, Catholic bishop of Savannah, in a pastoral letter read in all the Catholic churches of Georgia yesterday, was very severe in his criticisms of the modern dress of women. In this connection he said:

"There have been many and, I fear, just criticisms passed on some of the recent fashions in women's dresses, and there have actually been arrests made in connection with this matter. The only possible defense for these extreme styles is that they are the prevailing fashion. Whether God will regard fashion's laws as an excuse for outraging propriety and Christian modesty is the only question to answer. What a Catholic mother should do in this matter is very clear.

"I have always thought it a very peculiar thing that the United States furnishes the world with foodstuffs and many manufactured articles, and goes to the boulevards, the race tracks and worse places in Paris to dress its women."

PARK FORMALLY IN RACE FOR CONGRESS

Has Opened Headquarters at Sylvester and Will Conduct Active Campaign.

Sylvester, Ga., October 6.—(Special.) Judge Frank Park today formally announced his candidacy for election as representative from the second district in the following card:

"I respectfully announce for congress. My platform is to learn and carry into effect the needs and wishes of the whole people. If you think me worthy help me."

He has opened campaign headquarters here, where a force of clerks is engaged in mailing out his literature.

OWNER OF GIN LOSES LIFE IN SHAFTING

Brent, Ga., October 5.—(Special.)—Will Stokes, of this place, lost his life in the shafting of his gin today when his clothing became entangled in a set screw. Before assistance could arrive and stop the engine, Stokes had been whirled around several times, his body being thrown against a heavy beam at every revolution.

SAVANNAH PASTORS ABANDON FIGHT ON DISORDERLY HOUSES

Savannah, Ga., October 6.—(Special.) "We may talk here about how to run this city government until Gabriel blows his trumpet without accomplishing anything," declared the Rev. Dr. W. L. Pickard, pastor of the First Baptist church, at a meeting of the Protestant Pastors' association this morning.

Following Dr. Pickard's statement, the pastors abandoned their plans for eliminating the houses in our midst and the open saloon.

"We know there are things here which should not be,' he continued, "but we are wasting our time trying to do anything. We know the houses of ill repute should not be allowed to exist and we know some things about prohibition, but time is too precious and the gospel is too important.'

At Dr. Pickard's suggestion the ministers gave up their reform ideas and decided to hold weekly meetings to study the Bible together.

"We have been making ourselves the laughing stock of the town trying to correct the evils that exist," declared Rockwell S. Brank, pastor of the Independent Presbyterian church.

This Missouri Lady, Who Says She Can Do Any Kind of Work Without Feeling Any Ill Effects.

Newton, Mo.—Mrs. Jay Rhoades, of this place, says: "I suffered for 12 years with my right side, and the last three years, I would have a bad spell with it about every three months. I would get so bad off, every one would think I could not live.

The first of July, I began taking Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I haven't had a bad spell since soon after I began taking it.

Before taking Cardui, I could hardly stand on my feet. Now, I can clean house, and do any kind of work without its hurting me in the least.

I would like to tell all suffering ladies what Cardui did for me, for it will surely help others who suffer as I did.

I cannot praise Cardui high enough, and am telling all my neighbors about it."

Cardui is a mild and effective tonic for women, that has been found, by actual use, during more than 50 years, to relieve the ailments to which all women are peculiarly liable.

The prompt and satisfactory action of this well-known woman's remedy is due to its gentle, building action, on the womanly constitution.

Cardui has helped thousands of others, and that is a good reason why it should help you, too.

Try Cardui.

FIVE FEET ON STREET GRANTED CONTRACTOR

Lively Discussion in Council Over Enclosure on Peachtree to Construct Building.

At the meeting of council yesterday afternoon a permit was granted to A. T. Spalding, a contractor, to close in 5 feet of the street on Peachtree between Merritts avenue and Linden street during the time the Smith building is in process of erection.

The contractor asked for permission to extend the fence to within 3 feet of the car track; in fact, the fence which was erected last week protruded into the street for a distance of about 8 feet, leaving only 4 feet for the passage of pedestrians between the fence and the car track.

Councilman George H. Boynton, of the sixth ward, vigorously protested against allowing the contractor to use any part of the street. He offered an amendment to the resolution, which was adopted by the street commitee, and, in a strong argument before council, declared that the congested condition of Peachtree street forbade the use of any part of the street for any purpose other than the passage of vehicles and street cars.

Alderman James W. Maddox, who had the contract for the excavating work on the Smith property, went to the front for the contractor. Alderman Maddox took the position that inasmuch as the city allows citizens and corporations to tear up the street for making water, gas and underground electric connections, it would be no abuse of privilege for the city to allow Contractor Spalding to use a part of the street to within 3 feet of the car track. He said that the contractor has piled material upon the street within the fence, and to cause him to bring the fence closer to the sidewalk will mean putting him to a greater expense than he anticipated on his contract.

Despite Councilman Boynton's plea against obstructing any part of the street, council voted to allow the contractor to use 5 feet of the street. He will, therefore, be forced to move his fence back in order to allow a 6-foot passageway between the fence and the car track.

Councilman Boynton caused to be inserted in the permit a clause which makes the contractor liable for damages caused by any accident or inconvenience by reason of the obstruction.

GOOD ROADS CONGRESS BE HELD IN AUGUSTA

Commissioner of Agriculture J. D. Price was furnished yesterday with the program of the Georgia-Carolina Good Roads congress, which is to be held in the city of Augusta November 6 and 7, during the progress of the Georgia-Carolina fair.

Representatives of the farmers' union, the different trades bodies, the Georgia Chamber of Commerce and the several good roads organizations have been asked to participate. As the congress does not limit itself to the betterment of roads lying in the immediate vicinity of the Savannah river, but extends to the whole of both states, it is hoped to have about 1,000 delegates in attendance.

R. C. Berckmans, of the Berckmans floral nurseries, was in the city and had a conference with Commissioner Price in the interest of the congress.

The present officers of the organization are E. J. Watson, commissioner of agriculture for South Carolina, president; Judge W. F. Eve, of Augusta, and Commissioner J. D. Price, vice presidents, and J. C. Harper, of Augusta, secretary.

JURY IS WARNED TO GO SLOW ON DIVORCES

In taking up the grind of divorce cases Monday, Judge W. D. Ellis warned the jurymen against granting verdicts merely because the cases were not defended. The judge stated that there must be a just and legal reason for granting a divorce before it should be granted.

A number of unimportant cases were gone through with before court adjourned at 2 o'clock. Judge Ellis also called attention to the extremely low-toned and unintelligible voice in which most women testify on the stand. He instructed the jury to regard as unsaid that which was spoken in a tone so low that they could not get the full import.

NEAT LEGAL POINT RAISED BY ANDERSON

A neat legal point that may figure in some important suit was raised Monday by Commissioner Clifford L. Anderson at the meeting of the board of county commissioners. Discussion arose over the appointment of court bailiffs. Regular bailiffs must make bond and are appointed for a certain term. However, according to the commissioners, the custom has arisen in some of the courts of appointing a man for ten days without bond.

"This appointment for ten days is legal," said Colonel Anderson, "provided it is done, as the law says, to meet an emergency, but in some cases a man is appointed for ten days at a time and then reappointed again and again for the same period. This is strictly illegal and some day the execution of a court decree is going to be stayed on the grounds that no regularly appointed bailiff served the defendant with a copy of the proceedings."

PROBATION OFFICERS GET HIGHER SALARIES

Upon the recommendation of Judge W. W. Tindall, of the juvenile court, and of Commissioner Tull C. Waters, of the alms and juvenile committee, the county board of commissioners decided Monday to install a hot air furnace in the building recently leased at 96 Trinity avenue. The furnace is to be installed by the Moncrief company at a cost of $285 to the county.

The salaries of Miss Margaret Laing, special officer and matron, and those of Probation Officers B. B. Posey and J. M. Gloer were also raised $25 per month respectively, at the suggestion of Judge Tindall. As a result of the increased salaries these officials will be expected to devote more hours to their work, and a matron at $35 per month and four helpers will be dismissed. The commissioners were told that by this method more satisfactory work could be accomplished from the trained workers and the county would save over $25 per month in salaries. Officers Posey and Gloer are paid their salaries by the city and the money from the county will supplement this amount.

CONSTRUCT UNDERPASS AT SOUTHERN CROSSING

A deed from the citizens of Roxborough road and the Southern Railway company, making possible the construction of a 40-foot underpass at the Southern crossing of that road, was accepted Monday by the county commissioners.

The matter of grading the underpass was referred to the public works committee with power to act, and it is believed that this body will take up the work in a short time.

MONDAY WAS WARMER THAN ALL SEPTEMBER

Atlanta hardly noticed it, because there was a certain crispness in the air that robbed the heat of its power, but the official thermometer of the United States weather bureau crawled up to 81 degrees by 3 o'clock Monday afternoon.

The weather was hotter than any day in September. On September 5, however, the temperature was 80 degrees.

The outlook continues to be fair weather, according to weather experts, and the official forecast for today is "fair weather," with no particular change in the temperature predicted.

BISHOP KNIGHT WILL TAKE SEWANEE CALL

Bishop Albion W. Knight, former rector of St. Philip's cathedral, Atlanta, but now bishop of Cuba, has reconsidered his action in refusing the vice chancellorship of the University of the South, at Suwanee.

Bishop Knight sent a telegram to Atlanta friends Monday confirming the fact that he had resigned and waited the appointment of his successor before takig up the university work.

The convention of the Episcopal church is in session at New York, and during the session the house of bishops will name Dr. Knight's successor in Cuba and probably release Bishop Knight to his new duties.

NAMING OF M'INTYRE PLEASES THOMASVILLE

Thomasville, Ga., October 6.—(Special.)—The appointment made by Governor Slaton of W. I. MacIntyre as solicitor of the city court of Thomasville to fill out the unexpired term of Roscoe Luke, who resigned to make the race for congress, is a matter of general satisfaction to his many friends here, and he is being heartily congratulated.

Mr. MacIntyre is one of Thomasville's brainiest young lawyers and has represented the county several times in the legislature.

RODDENBERY HONORED AT MEMORIAL MEETING

Thomasville, Ga., October 6.—(Special.)—A memorial service to the late Congressman S. A. Roddenbery was held at the Baptist church here Sunday afternoon and was attended by a large number of citizens of Thomasville.

The program for the afternoon included appropriate music and addresses by Mayor Roscoe Luke, Rev. J. B. Johnstone of the Methodist church, W. D. Upshaw, of Atlanta, and others. The Rev. W. M. Harris, of the Baptist church, was master of ceremonies.

THIS IS FINAL DAY OF ROTARY CAMPAIGN

Members Expect to Complete $3,000 Fund for Associated Charities Today.

Today will see the wind-up of the collecting of the Rotary club's Associated Charities fund of $3,000, being gathered by thirty members of the well known organization. Monday the members of the organization worked until dark and then some, and when they reported their collections to Ivan Allen and William Seabrook, in charge of the campaign, they found that the total fund had been raised considerably.

The club members have set $3,000 as the amount they must turn over to the Associated Charities tonight at the monthly meeting of the organization.

With today's final pull, it is believed the total amount will be raised.

SUPPORTED HUSBAND FOR 20 YEARS, NOW SHE'S TIRED OF IT

Macon, Ga., October 6.—(Special.)—That some husbands do not contribute to the support of their wives, but take the easier way of letting their wives support them, is alleged in a divorce petition filed in the Bibb county superior court today by Mrs. Ellen Potter against her husband, J. W. Potter. Mrs. Potter claims that during the twenty years of her married life her husband has never given her so much as a penny, but on the other hand, had forced her to mortgage her home and had then taken the money and squandered it on himself.

The couple have four children, the oldest of which is eighteen years of age. Mrs. Potter asks the court to grant her permanent alimony for the support of her children, declaring that as far as she is concerned, she wants nothing her husband has.

ALASKAN VOLCANOES IN ACTIVE ERUPTION

Seattle, Wash., October 6.—The brigantine Harriet G., Captain J. A. McInnis, which arrived here today after a summer spent in Bering sea, brought word that volcanoes at the Aleutian range are in violent eruption. Ashes from the peaks covered decks and every thing, carpeted the ground of the Elaskan peninsula and spread a great smoky pall over the waters throughout the summer, members of the crew said. Mount Kaymaj also has sent forth volcanic cinders.

"During the summer we were anchored in Port Holden, some 200 miles from Unimak," said Captain McInnis. "The grass on shore was covered with ashes and the sky was always overcast with heavy smoke. Although Unimak Island usually is covered with snow, we were surprised on the way down, to find the snow covered with ashes. For forty miles down the coast we traveled under the smoke cloud."

TWO PERSONS KILLED IN TRAIN COLLISION

St. Louis, Mo., October 6.—Baltimore & Ohio westbound passenger train No. 3, New York to St. Louis, ran into the rear end of a freight train which was taking a siding at Summerfield, Ill., 25 miles east of here, today. The engine turned over and the engineer, named Alberty, who lived in Washington, Ind., was killed. The fireman jumped and escaped injury.

The mail car was derailed. The passenger coaches remained on the track and none of the passengers was hurt. A tramp, who was stealing a ride on the passenger train, was killed, however, and two other tramps were seriously hurt.

Death Chair for Negroes.

Charleston, S. C., October 6.—Albert Cantey and Harry Thompson, two negroes, found guilty of killing A. W. Steeger, a merchant, shot and robbed 6 miles from Charleston last March, were sentenced to death by electrocution on December 4, by Judge Bowman, in thecourt of general sessions here today. Romeo Cantey, a brother of Albert, got twenty years for manslaughter, for killing Kid Shine. His confession in the Steeger case played a large part in the conviction of Albert Cantey

CLEANSES YOUR HAIR MAKES IT BEAUTIFUL

It becomes thick, wavy, lustrous and all dandruff disappears.

Surely try a "Danderine Hair Cleanse" If you wish to immediately double the beauty of your hair. Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; this will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or any excessive oil—in a few minutes you will be amazed. Your hair will be wavy, fluffy and abundant and possess an incomparable softness, luster and luxuriance.

Besides beautifying the hair, one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; invigorates the scalp, stopping itching and falling hair.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

You can surely have pretty, soft, lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will just get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed.

Consumption Takes 350 People Daily

in the United States and the deadly germs claim more victims in cities than in rural districts, due no doubt to the increased number of indoor workers in confining quarters and their lack of sunshine.

Tubercular germs always attack when the system is weakened from colds or sickness, overwork, overstrain, confining duties or any drain which has reduced the resistive forces of the body. But nature always provides a corrector and the best physicians emphasize that during changing climate our blood should be kept rich and pure and active by taking Scott's Emulsion after meals; the cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion warms the body by enriching the blood—it peculiarly strengthens the lungs and upbuilds the resistive forces of the body to avoid colds and prevent consumption.

If you work indoors, tire easily, feel languid or nervous, Scott's Emulsion is the most strengthening food-medicine known; it builds energy and strength and is totally free from alcohol or any stupefying drug—every druggist has it.

140 BALES OF COTTON BROUGHT IN BY TRUITT

LaGrange, Ga., October 6.—(Special.) George W. Truitt, one of the biggest cotton growers in Troup county, came to town this afternoon with twelve woagon loads of cotton, containing 140 bales. It was of long staple, high quality product, and brought a fancy price. Mr. Truitt had the wagons drive several times around the public square and quite a crowd gathered to witness the scene.

R. W. Jemison is Reappointed

R. W. Jemison, of Macon, was yesterday reappointed by Governor Slaton a member of the board of state examiners of certified public accountants. The appointment is for a term of four years.

The Giants and Athletics are resting, awaiting the umpire's "Play ball!" in the first game of the world's series, which starts at the Polo Grounds in New York today.

First World's Series Battle Today

WHIFFS

They're Off.

THE GIANTS and the Athletics are off this afternoon, in the first game of what promises to be the most closely contested and brilliantly played world's series since the interleague series were inaugurated. Both camps are confident and so are their rooters. The Giants carry the bulk of the fans as favorites, including Whiffs. We've had them three years. Twice they've failed us. We've got the hunch they're coming through this time.

Why We Stick.

"WHY DO you stick to the Giants in the fact of such hitting power that the Athletics possess?" was hurled at us the other day. Our answer is briefly—Mathewson. That was our hunch last season. But Matty had seventeen men to battle last year instead of nine and came mighty near getting by at that. Only one run was earned off of him. Even the most partisan Red Sox supporters will state that Matty never ought to have lost a game. Matty would carry our money if we were betting and until the Athletics have successfully eliminated Big Six, they will, in our humble opinion, have a battle, supporters of Rube Marquard, Jeff Tesreau and Al Demaree to the contrary.

For Seventh Time.

TY COBB led the American league batsmen for the seventh consecutive time and for the third consecutive season he beat out Shoeless Joe Jackson in a hectic scrap, such as they have been having each year. Cobb, by leading the league again this season, has probably set a mark for all time. It is doubtful if any hitter will lead the American league seven consecutive seasons again. After all, there is only one Cobb.

Right Choices.

JAKE DAUBERT and Walter Johnson were chosen as the most valuable players to their teams in their respective leagues by the committee of newspaper men elected for this particular duty. No better choices could have been made. These two fellows were unquestionably the backbone of the Dodgers and the Senators. Without them, there is no telling where they would have finished. Several days ago, we predicted that Johnson would get the buzz wagon that goes with this choice and had the hunch then that Daubert would be the choice in the National league, though Cravath's tremedous slugging for the Phillies left us a little in doubt.

Welcome Back.

BRISCOE LORD, former Pelican, after having been buffeted around on the big league waves, from one team to another for the past two years, comes back to the Southern league, this time in a managerial role. Briscoe will handle the reins of the Mobile Gulls during the coming season and if he decides to play in the outfield for the Gulls, one place will be a certainty. Lord looked mighty good when in this league before and ought to do very well upon his return.

Credit Due Him.

GEORGE STALLINGS is due a world of credit for the wonderful showing the Boston Braves made during the past season. It was predicted by several that with Stallings at the helm the Braves would finish out of last place and would come close to leading the second division. This is just what Stallings did. By finishing in fifth place, he not only made a wonderful showing, for which he deserves unstinted praise, but the league should give him a vote of thanks. He put the National league back on the baseball map in Boston.

Showed Up Well.

WALTER KEATING, former Cracker, played so well in the last few games with the Chicago Cubs, by whom he was drafted from Columbus, that he will probably be taken south by Evers next spring and stands a mighty good chance of sticking. As Charlie Murphy put it: "Any infielder who hits .305 and steals 96 bases is worth looking over, no matter what league he played in." And C. Webb is right—for once.

New First Sacker.

MOLLWITZ, a first baseman, secured by draft by the Chicago Cubs, is a player that Atlanta fans will be interested, when it is known that the local club has been promised first call of this player by the Cubs. Charlie Murphy says Mollwitz is a coming first sacker. We'll take Charlie's word and take the man without further argument. Charlie made the same statement about Joe Agler when he sent him down here via Jersey City. Did he "come?" He did. Mr. Murphy, let's look over Mr. Mollwitz. As a press agent, you're one grand little first baseman discoverer.

Much Improvement.

THE EARLY football games played by the southern football teams is evidence that our prediction that the games in the S. I. A. A. this season were going to be closely contested, is going to come true. All the larger schools, such as Tech, Georgia, Auburn, Alabama, Vanderbilt, Sewanee and Tennessee, have run up large scores in the first games, showing that they are stronger, as the teams they played are no weaker apparently than they were last season.

Good Games Certain.

THE TECH-GEORGIA, the Tech-Auburn, the Tech-Sewanee, the Georgia-Auburn, Georgia-Virginia, Vanderbilt-Auburn, Vanderbilt-Sewanee, Vanderbilt-Tennessee and Alabama-Georgia games all promise to be hummers of the first order, with the dope very much tangled at this stage of writing and only future development being a factor that one can base any forecast on.

It's An Ill Wind.

SNODGRASS' injury will not set the Giants back much. In fact there are many who are so unkind as to say that it's a blessing in disguise. Seriously, we would rather have Shafer in centerfield and Herzog on third base, than be without the services of the latter during this important series. Herzog is one of the kind of players that always plays better in a crisis than he does at any other time.

NEW SIGNALS GIVEN TO YELLOW-JACKETS

Jene Patten Running Team at Quarter—Cook and Johnson Out of Practice.

By Hal Reynolds.

The Jackets came through the game with Citadel in good shape, with the exception of Captain Cook, who hurt his leg and was not able to practice yesterday afternoon.

The Jackets engaged only in light work Monday afternoon, running signals and getting used to the new plays that Coach Heisman mapped out for them at the blackboard talk earlier in the day.

Jene Patten, the speedy Baylor back, who is expected to shine for the Jackets this year, was at quarterback running the team in the signal drill and does not show any perceptible sign of a limp.

Albert Loeb was also out. The plucky little center will be at center on the varsity by the last few days of the week and will play the pivotal position in the Chattanooga game Saturday.

Talley Johnson's shoulder is mending so slowly that it is doubtful if he will be able to scrimmage this week and he may not be able to play in Saturday's game in Chattanooga.

Hard scrimmages will start again this afternoon.

AT PISTOL'S POINT MOTHER HOLDS MAN TO AWAIT PREACHER

Savannah, Ga., October 6.—(Special.) "I have a man in my house at the point of a pistol," Mrs. J. E. Johnson telephoned the police this morning. "Send a policeman and a preacher; he's got to marry my daughter."

Two motorcycle officers were dispatched to the address given. There they found Joel A. Dickinson, Jr., in the predicament laconically described over the wire by Mrs. Johnson. Her daughter, Caroline, 15, was the third principal in the affair.

Simultaneously with the call at the police headquarters was another at the court of ordinary. A license was desired.

The stage was set at Mrs. Johnson's home for the marriage when a complication developed. The couple were willing to marry, but it was discovered that the groom-to-be was a married man already. Instead of a wedding ceremony there will be a hearing in police court tomorrow on the charge preferred by the girl's mother.

MISTAKE IN DRUGS MAY COST HER LIFE

Savannah, Ga., October 6.—(Special.) Mistaking the drug for paregoric Mrs. M. J. Bettencourt, wife of a prominent grocer, today drank a vial of iodine, and is in critical condition as a result.

Members of the family discovered Mrs. Bettencourt's condition soon after she had taken the drug and a physician took steps which may save her life.

SAVANNAH PAINTER IS KILLED IN FALL

Savannah, Ga., October 6.—(Special.) Robert E. Bennett, a sign painter, fell from a staging on the fourth floor of a house on West Broad today and died a few minutes later.

Bennett struck the projecting ledge of a tin roof adjoining the house on which he was working. He was unconscious when assistance reached him. The base of the skull was fractured, an arm and a leg broken and he sustained other injuries.

Colonel Barge Improving.

Colonel J. J. Barge, a well-known Atlanta attorney, who has been seriously ill at his home on Hill street for the past week or more, is reported as being slightly improved. His friends have been gratified by the news that he is expected to be out within a short time.

FOUR BALL DETAILS FOR LOCAL FANDOM

Atlanta fandom who desire to listen and see a detail of the world's series games which start today at New York, will find our matinees running this year exclusive of the fee detail furnished daily at The Constitution building, announcement of which is carried on the first page.

Caller King, the pioneer baseball detailer of Atlanta, will have his detail of his usual place at 9 Viaduct place, with an up-to-date board, complete in every detail. The admission will be 50 cents.

Elliott Dent, the Crackers' star right hander, will runhis detail in the convention hall of the Kimball house, and will offer the same service as Mr. King. The admission here will be 50 cents.

Hugh Cardoza, the genial manager of the Wells' interests in Atlanta, will have his electrascope, the last word in electrical scoreboards, in operation at theGrand theater. The admission will be 25 cents, reserved seats 50 cents.

An outside party, who does not care to have his name mentioned, has an electrical board of the very latest and most complete pattern at 54½ South Broad street. The admission wil lbe 50 cents.

CUBS PLAY SOX FOR CITY TITLE

Chicago, October 6.—The first game to decide the baseball championship of the city of Chicago will be played here tomorrow, starting at 2 o'clock between the Chicago teams of the American and National leagues. The weather forecast is for clear skies.

President Comiskey, of the American league club, indicated that Walsh would be in condition to participate in the series.

The advance sale of tickets for the initial game has been large. The probable batteries in the opening game will be Cheney and Archer for the Nationals, and Russell and Schalk for the Americans.

CURTAIN TO RISE ON BASEBALL DRAMA

member of the select list. He stated that the local club officials told him that none was available.

The Boston club executive thereupon went on the street and purchased 16 tickets for $800. With these as evidence he went before the national commission and explained the situation. In a statement given out later the commission said that the New York club owners knew the original holders of the seats, but were not ready to make the names public.

Blocks of seats were sold to city officials, and it was reported that those which Gaffney bought were thought to be from such source. The members of the national commission said that with the exception of this isolated case no other evidence of speculation had been called to their attention. It was also stated that any action in the matter would be deferred until later in the week.

Baseball enthusiasts who had made journeys of thousands of miles in order to be present at the opening of the series were not influenced by the remarks of the national commission, and continued their hunt for a speculator who would exchange a coupon for any sum within reason or even a little beyond it.

Two thirty-third degree "fans" from Alaska offered $50 for a set of three tickets, but continued the search when the sharp-featured vendor demanded $100, and refused to dicker. A trio of Texas enthusiasts paid $75 for three seats of the opening game, and appeared to feel that they had secured a bargain.

Player-Writers' Case.

The national commission appeared to be more interested in the cases of the players who were supposed to write special articles on the world's series than in the activities of the speculators. After a meeting to consider this and other features of the series, Garry Herrmann said:

"The commission feels just the same about ball players writing for the newspapers as it did when it made its announcement in Cincinnati some days ago. We do not feel that a player in an independent series who writes stories of the games can give his best efforts to his club.

"However, since the commission decided that players shall not write for the newspapers, it has been visited by newspaper editors and others connected with newspapers and informed that they had contracts with certain players to write about the series and that if the decision of the commission to stop the players from writing were enforced the players would be violating these contracts.

"The commission has carefully considered the matter and has decided that it will penalize and player who disobeys the commission's ruling unless there are extenuating circumstances. If a ball player has a contract to write and if this contract was executed before the commission took its action on September 27 we will consider that an extenuating circumstance."

Mr. Herrmann was asked if that applied to all players and managers in post-season interleague series, and he said it did, adding:

"After this year no ball player or manager will be given permission to sign a contract.

"I might add," said Mr. Herrmann, "that the national commission has no desire to regulate the newspapers, but we took the action against players writing stories of the games at the request of the Baseball Writers' National association."

Decision Modified.

It took the national commission only about fifteen minutes to modify its decision regarding the player-writers. After this action Umpires Klem, Rigler, Connolly and Egan were called in and given final instructions, as were also the official scorers.

At the request of the baseball writers the commission agreed to have a third scorer sit with the two official scorers appointed by the commission. The baseball writers selected Joseph S. Jackson, of Detroit, president of the Baseball Writers' National association, as their representative. In case a difference of opinion arises over some point in the scoring rules a majority vote of the three will decide the question.

The umpires were instructed to follow American league rules in Philadelphia and National league rules in New York. These rules differ in two instances. In the National league on an infield fly players may stand away from the base and in case the fly is dropped they can go down to the next base at their own peril without first returning to the base and touching it.

In the American league base runners must return to the base and not leave it until the ball is caught or strikes the ground or a player.

The other instance is the rule on balks. In the National league if a pitcher drops a ball while in the act of pitching it must be called a balk and all home runners advance one base. If there is a man on third he is permitted to score. In the American league it is not a balk, players taking chances on being put out if they try to advance on the misplay.

The national commission left to the umpires to decide who shall officiate behind the plate each day. As in other years, this will be decided by seniority, it is said. That would mean that Umpire Klem will be behind the plate tomorrow and Umpire Connolly calling balls and strikes in the opening game in Philadelphia.

Probable Batteries.

The Giants' battery for the initial contest, according to the best information obtainable, will be Mathewson or Marquard and Meyers. The Athletics are expected to retaliate with Bender and either Thomas or Schang behind the bat. Connie Mack's Indian twirler is said to be in splendid shape and the Athletics' best card for the battle on hostile soil, as the Polo Grounds will be tomorrow.

Although Thomas has not been playing regularly of late it is the general opinion among the Philadelphia contingent that Mack will use the veteran in place of Schang, because of his experience and ability to steady his pitcher in a critical moment, such as always arises in a world's series game.

McGraw stated tonight that he could not tell what pitcher he would work until he saw them warm up tomorrow afternoon. His choice, however, is almost certain to fall on either Mathewson or Marquard. Because of his great experience and steadiness Mathewson would be the logical choice especially since he outpitched Bender in the opening game of the 1911 series.

The plan necessitates the use of Marquard as second choice in Philadelphia on Wednesday and McGraw may decide that Mathewson would be steadier before the fans of Shibe park than his lefthander and reverse the order. There is also the possibility that both Mack and McGraw may attempt a surprise by sending either Shawkey or Brown or Tesreau or Demaree to the mound.

Line-Ups Uncertain.

The line-up, aside from the batteries, is also more or less in doubt. Either Shafer or Herzog may play third for the Giants, although the general belief is that McGraw will send Herzog to the third sack just before the first Athletic player steps to bat. This seems the more likely because it is considered inadvisable that Snodgrass will be able to start the series, thus practically forcing McGraw to play Shafer in centerfield.

Some uncertainty also exists regarding the occupant of the center field for the Athletics tomorrow. If the Giants send a left-handed twirler to the pitcher's box it is almost a surety that Mack will use Walsh in center, since Strunk is known as a weak batter against a southpaw. Taking everything into consideration, the most probable line-up for the first game of the world's series is as follows.

| PHILADELPHIA. | NEW YORK. |
| E. Murphy, rf | Herzog, 3b. |

BRUNSWICKS ASK VISIT FROM U. S. CRUISER

Brunswick, Ga., October 6.—(Special.) The Brunswick Board of Trade has extended, through Congressman Walker, an invitation to Secretary Daniels to have the scout cruiser Birmingham visit this port while en route to Panama.

It has been announced from Washington that the Birmingham is to convey the Panama-Pacific exposition commissioners on their tour of Central and South American cities. The cruiser will make various stops along the south Atlantic coast.

WOMAN IS CONVICTED OF A DOUBLE MURDER

Harrisonville, Mo., October 6.—Mrs. Ida May Keller, charged with killing her husband and 7-year-old daughter Margaret, was convicted of murder in the first degree by a jury here late tonight and her punishment was fixed at life imprisonment. The jury took but one ballot.

Georgia is the only state in which children under 12 may legally work in factories.

The United States has become the heaviest buyer of South African diamonds.

CHOICE TO TWIRL OPENER

CHRISTY MATHEWSON

"The Old Master," of the New York Giants, whom many figure will be McGraw's twirling choice in the opening game of the series with the Athletics today. Matty has twirled six games against the Athletics in world's series games. In 1905, we won three shut-out games from them. In 1911, he won the fist game and then lost the next two. Matty is the hope of the Giants' rooters.

SOME SIDE NOTES ON WORLD SERIES

By James F. Keirans.

Fourteen home runs have been made in eight world's series.

No spectators will be allowed in fields of either Shibe park or the Polo Grounds.

Bender is 30 years old, while Mathewson is 33.

The National league champions have lost to the American league pennant winners the last three years. The Athletics beat the Chicago Cubs in 1910 and the Giants in 1911, while Boston Red Sox won from McGraw's team in 1912.

In 1905, when the Athletics first met the Giants in the world's championship, the five games attracted 91,623 people. In 1912, the Giant v. Red Sox games drew 252,637.

In the last eight years world's series games numbering forty-seven, drew 1,016,889 persons, who paid $1,148,997.

The club owners' share of the receipts in the last eight years has been $732,886.

Captain Danny Murphy's batting will be missed. He has registered most two-baggers, eight in all, two being made in the 1905 series and three each in the 1910 and 1911 games.

Home runs have been rare in the world's series, Frank Baker's circuit drives against Marquard and Mathewson in the 1911 series being the best remembered. Only fourteen have been recorded in the fifty-five games played in the nine series to date. Pat Dougherty, who played with the Boston Red Sox in the 1903 series, and with the White Sox in the 1906 series, is credited with two, and Manager Fred Clarke, of the Pirates, also got a brace of homers in 1903 and 1909. Those who have poled out four-base drives are Rube Oldring, Danny Murphy, Larry Doyle, Jimmy Sebring, Davy Jones, Sam Crawford, Joe Tinker and Larry Gardner.

Baker is leading world's series batsman, with a mark of .391 registered in five games against the Cubs in 1910 and six games against the Giants in 1911. Nine hits in each series, with only one hitless game in each gave the Athletic's third baseman his mark. In the eleven games Baker was at bat 46 times and got 18 hits, 5 being two-baggers and two being home runs. He scored 13 runs, which is also the high mark for any individual player in the nine annual world's series.

Pitcher George Wiltse and Mathewson are the only Giants who were on the team in 1905 when Mathewson hung up his great shut-out record.

Connie Mack has been active in baseball for thirty years. He is 50 years of age.

In the last eight years world's championship series the players' share has been $584,320.

Three victories is the best any pitcher has won in world's series.

The National Commission gets 10 per cent of each game. It amounts to nearly $115,000 for the eight series.

This will be the rubber series between the Athletics and Giants. Each has managed five championship clubs, and each has won a world's series from the other.

Gainesville, Fla., October 6.—The University of Florida today opened its football season here by defeating the eleven of Southern college, 147 to 0. The university team averaged a touchdown every third down.

FALKENBERG HOLDS PITTSBURG SAFELY

Big "Cy" Blanks Pirates With Two Hits in First Game of Post-Season Series.

Cleveland, October 6.—"Cy" Falkenberg held the Pittsburg National leaguers to two hits in the opening game of their post-season series today, and Cleveland took the first game, 3 to 0. Only two Pittsburg runners got to second, and none reached third.

Adams kept Cleveland's hits pretty well scattered until the sixth, when Jackson's single and Lajoie's long double scored the first run. In the seventh Cleveland scored two more on Olson's single, Dolan's wild throw of Graney's grounder and Wagner's wild throw to the plate on Falkenberg's infield hit. Only about 5,000 fans turned out to see a contest worthy of a world's series. The teams play here tomorrow.

Under this head, the sporting editor will endeavor to answer all questions pertaining to all branches of sports.

Dick Jemison, Sporting Editor The Constitution: 1. How many home runs did Harry Welchonce make during the past season? 2. What is Bisland's batting percentage since he joined the St. Louis Browns? 3. Also Clyde Wares? R. H. B.

1. Seven. 2. About .220. 3. About the same.

No. He went to the Giants at the close of the Southern league season of 1912 and has been pitching there ever since.

WORLD'S RECORD FOR FASTEST GAME

Giants and Phillies Play Game in 31 Minutes—Former Record Was Made in Atlanta in 1910 Season.

New York, October 6.—In an exhibition game here this afternoon the champion Giants and the Philadelphia Nationals set a new record for speed for a full game between major league teams, the time being 31 minutes. With McGraw bustling in new players in rapid succession, the contest resembled rapid fire target practice on a battleship. The Giants won, 4 to 1.

Preceding the game there were several field events. In a hundred yard dash Lobert beat Thorpe in 13 seconds. The fungo hitting contest went to Thorpe, with a rap for 414 feet, and Lobert won the chase around the bases in 15 seconds.

Score by innings:

HOW THE CONSTITUTION WILL HANDLE THE WORLD'S SERIES

The Constitution has planned to handle the world's series in the most effective, complete and accurate manner, giving its readers the best and most complete account of the games that is possible.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS, that wonderful news gathering agency, will have its corps of trained experts at the games, covering them in the most up-to-date, thorough and accurate manner.

IRWIN M. HOWE, the official statistician of the American League, and regarded as the greatest baseball dopester in the world, will give The Constitution his views from the position of a statistician. Mr. Howe's analytical stories in advance of the series, printed in The Constitution, were the source of considerable favorable comment.

THE MEGAPHONE DETAIL will be working in full blast promptly at 12:45 o'clock. So will the telephone service. Don't forget the place—Constitution building. The telephone number is Main 5000.

FINAL INDEPENDENCE FOR THE PHILIPPINES

Manila, October 6.—Francis Burton Harrison, of New York, newly appointed governor general of the Philippines, who arrived here today, was greeted by several thousand people, many of whom had come from the provinces. Several of the welcoming delegations were accompanied by bands.

The instructions declared that every step would be taken with a view to the ultimate independence of the islands. Also it was announced that the first step to be taken at once would be to give native citizens the majority in the appointive commission, and thus a majority in both houses of the Philippine legislature. The instructions of the American government as thus embodied in the governor general's address were as follows:

Trustees for Islands.

"We regard ourselves as trustees, acting not for the advantage of the United States, but for the benefit of the people of the Philippine islands. Every step we take will be taken with a view to the ultimate independence of the islands and as a preparation for that independence, and we hope to move toward that end as rapidly as the safety and the permanent interests of the islands will permit. After each step taken, experience will guide us to the next.

"The administration will take one step at once. It will give to the native citizens of the islands a majority in the appointive commission, and thus in the upper as well as in the lower house of the legislature.

"It will do this in the confident hope and expectation that immediately proof will there be given in the action of the commission under the new arrangement of the political capacity of those native citizens who have already come forward to represent and lead their people in affairs."

Governor General Harrison added:

"With President Wilson's sentiments and policy I am in complete accord. Within the scope of my office I shall do my utmost to aid in the fulfillment of our promises, and I am confident we shall thereby hasten the coming day of independence.

"For ourselves we confidently expect of you that dignity of bearing and self-restraint which are the outward evidences of the daily increasing national consciousness.

"I remind you that we are for the present responsible before the world for your welfare and progress. Until your independence is complete we shall demand unremitting recognition of our sovereignty.

"You are on trial before an international tribunal, and we eagerly await convincing proof that you are capable of establishing a stable government—not necessarily a reproduction of our institutions, but one which will guarantee complete security for life, liberty and property.

"We place within your reach the instruments of redemption. The door of opportunity stands open and the event, under Providence, is in your hands."

How the Plan Will Be Carried Out.

Washington, October 6.—Secretary Garrison today received this cablegram from Governor General Harrison at Manila:

"The reception of the president's announcement in regard to the commission and the general policy for the future was most enthusiastic."

President Wilson's plan to give the Filipinos a majority of both branches of the Philipppine legislature will be accomplished in this way:

The Filipinos already have a majority in the assembly, the lower branch. They will get a majority on the commission, which is the upper house, when American Commissioners Frank A. Branagan and Vice Governor Gilbert are retired in the near future and their places filled by natives. Under the new arrangement there will be six native commissioners and three Americans.

POSTOFFICE CLERKS SOLVE HARD PUZZLE

Syracuse, N. Y., October 6.—Postal clerks from here to Detroit solved the rebus of a letter bearing as its address nothing more than a rough sketch of a neck tie and a corn cob. A local newspaper artist made the odd test, dropping the letter into a street mail box without the slightest hint other than the pictures as to whom it should be delivered. Word has been received that the letter was promptly delivered as intended into the hands of none other than Tyrus Raymond Cobb, the popular idol of the baseball "fans."

AIGRETTES ON HATS BARRED BY THE TARIFF

Washington, October 6.—A woman entering the United States wearing an aigrette on her hat violates the new tariff law just as much as a man with a pound of opium in his pocket. That is the unofficial view of officials here who have asked the New York customs house for details of seizure of plumes from hats from trans-Atlantic passengers there Saturday.

WILD BEASTS DESTROY FLOCKS AND HERDS

Vienna, October 6.—Destruction of flocks and herds in the mountains of Styria, Austria, by a pack of wolves, lions and hyenas which escaped from a menagerie last month, has been so enormous that the Austrian government has organized an expedition to kill the beasts.

Terrified Styrian mountaineers appealed personally to Emperor Francis Joseph for assistance. His majesty directed the ministry of interior to report to him personally on the best way of exterminating the animals. The government immediately offered a reward of $750 for the head of the lioness and smaller rewards for those of her cubs and the other animals and sent out a squad of government foresters to trail them.

REBEL LINES BROKEN BY FEDERAL FORCES

Advance of Huerta's Army on Piedras Negras Causes Rush for American Side.

Piedras Negras, Mexico, October 6.—After breaking through the constitutionalists' lines at Peyetes late today, the vangard of General Mannass' federal army is reported within striking distance of Piedras Negras, provisional capital of the constitutionalist, tonight. It is pnderstood, however, that the immediate occupation of the city will not be attempted.

With the report of the approach of the federals a rush was made toward the American side of the border, but, because of a rigid quarantine established by the officials of Eagle Pass, Texas, none of the refugees was allowed to cross the international bridge. For a time panic prevailed, but with the assurance that the entrance of the government troops would be delayed, practically normal conditions were restored before nightfall.

The United States artillery authorities protested against the action of the city officials of Eagle Pass in denying the refugees admittance, but without result. It is urged that the prevalence of smallpox in Piedras Negras and nearby settlements makes the enforcement of quarantine restrictions necessary. All of those refugees already in Eagle Pass who are unable to show a certificate of vaccination are being forced to recross the boundary.

Huerta Shakes Up Cabinet.

Mexico City, October 6.—Another general shake-up in the Huerta cabinet today has resulted in a complete change of the ministry with the exception of the war portfolio. Most of the ministers were shifted from one department to another, but in two instances sub-secretaries were promoted. The cabinet, as it is now constituted, follows:

Germany Aids American.

San Francisco, Cal., October 6.—Quick action was obtained today by San Francisco friends of Frederick Jobsen, a wealthy shipping man of this city, in procuring his release from a military prison in Guaymas, Mexico, through the diplomatic channels of the German government. Jebsen is a German subject. His friends were notified by a wireless message received this morning, received from the United States cruiser Maryland, that he was in jail. Late in the afternoon a telegram fromthe German minister at Mexico City announced Jebsen's release.

While the San Francisco chamber of commerce, of which Jebsen is a member, was seeking further information through its representative in Washington personal friends of the prisoner importuned Franz Ropp, German consul general here, to cable to Berlin and telegraph to the German minister at Mexico City, asking for intercession for Jebsen. That this move was successful was indicated by the message from the German minister.

According to information here, Jebsen was taken into custody September 28 and was held in communicado, no reason for his arrest being known here.

SCHMIDT EXAMINED AS TO MENTAL STATE

New York, October 6.—Several October grand juries were sworn in today and the case of Hans Schmidt, the German priest who confessed the murdering of Anna Aumuller, will be placed before one of the juries tomorrow by District Attorney Whiteman.

Schmidt was examined further today as to his mental condition by Dr. A. Ross Diefendorf, of New Haven, Conn., formerly superintendent of the Connecticut state insurance asylum. It was stated that the report of Dr. Diefendorf and other alienists will be given to Mr. Whitman Friday. The prosecutor, however, decided to go before the grand jury meanwhile with facts already disclosed and to move for trial two weeks from tomorrow or Wednesday.

WILSON VISITS BOY INJURED BY AUTO

The president sat at the boy's bedside while the youngster related again the circumstances of the mishap. The boy showed Mr. Wilson his bruised ankle and knee.

"I'll be all right in a few days," he said. "I'd better be, or I'll lose my job."

The president reassured him that folks didn't usually lose jobs when they met with accidents, and not to worry about it.

Philadelphia Item Suspends.

Philadelphia, October 6.—The Item, one of the oldest afternoon and Sunday papers published in this city, suspended publication today. For some time, it is alleged, the publication has been in financial difficulty and at a recent meeting of the creditors of the estate of Thomas Fitzgerald, the former publisher, it was announced no further aid would be given the paper. Harrington Fitzgerald, the executor, then stated he would be unable to continue publishing The Item and that the estate would be thrown into litigation.

RAILWAY OWNERSHIP PUT UP TO THE PEOPLE

Boston, October 6.—The progressive party of Massachusetts, in its first state convention as an official party, adopted a platform tonight which advocates submitting to the people by referendum vote at the state election next year the question of the state taking over the Boston and Maine railroad. The platform also declares for woman suffrage.

The conventaion was in session more than twelve hours, the latter part of which was marked by discussion over the platform that grew acrimonious at times. Twelve amendments to the report of the resolutions committee were introduced, some of them by persons in the gallery, who had no credentials as delegates. By a special arrangement, which made the convention unique in the state's political history in that respect, any person in the hall was entitled to present planks. Each of the twelve amendments was lost.

The platform demands that the governor have a longer term of office, subject to recall, and again declares in favor of a complete primary and an adequate corrupt practices act.

SAILORS ARE RESCUED BY CITY OF ATLANTA

Boston, October 6.—The steamer City of Atlanta arrived here tonight from Savannah, bringing to port the crew of the Boston schooner Frank B. Witherbee, which had capsized off Cape Hatteras Friday night after collision with the steamer.

That there was no loss of life was due largely to the bravery of First Mate Lincoln C. Dalzell, and a boat's crew of seven men from the steamer who took off the schooner's men in a small boat in a heavy sea. The Witherbee went over within 3 minutes after being struck. Most of her sailors were in their bunks at the time and upon reaching the deck, several were washed overboard and were picked up by Dalzell. Captain Ellis, of the Witherbee places responsibility for the collision on the steamer, claiming that he had the right of way.

CHANGES IN COMMAND OF NAVAL OFFICERS

Rear Admiral R. M. Doyle is detached from command of the Norfolk navy yard and ordered to command the Pacific reserve fleet.

Rear Admiral Nathaniel R. Usher, at present commanding the Third division of the Atlantic fleet, has been assigned to the command of the Norfolk navy yard upon the transfer of Rear Admiral Robert M. Doyle from that post to the command of the Pacific reserve fleet. Admiral Doyle has been given this command, although strongly urged for retention at Norfolk, in pursuance of Secretary Daniels' policy of requiring sea service of every admiral.

HENSLEE ANSWERS SPARTA CITIZEN

June 2, 1913, I was on the train between Edison and Arlington, Ga. On June 6, I was on the train between Tifton and Ashburn, Ga.

Will Ask Indictment.

"Regarding his statement and affidavit, I brand them as absolutely false, and, furthermore, I wish to state that I called on Mr. Lehman personally on Saturday afternoon, October 4, at his place of business, and stated to him, personally, that the only reason I came by was to inform him that I would get a bill of indictment against him when the next grand jury convened in Fulton county for trying to make me out a perjurer. That was all I had to say to him, and I then left his place of business.

"Regarding all of the foregoing statement, I will say that the proof is on record at the Franklin Buggy company's place of business in Barnesville, Ga.

(Signed) "A. H. HENSLEE,
"Barnesville, Ga."

Macon, Ga., October 6.

SOLICITOR AND ASSISTANT TO STUDY CASE IN VALDOSTA

Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey and his assistant, Attorney E. A. Stephens, have left for Valdosta, where they will spend the week quietly studying the 115 reasons cited by attorneys for Leo M. Frank as basis for a new trial for the murder of Mary Phagan, of which Frank was convicted after a long trial in the summer.

The idea of the solicitor in leaving Atlanta came from his desire to devote his entire time to the matter which is due to be taken up on Saturday. He also had some business to attend to in Valdosta, and so chose that town as the place for studying the case.

Several new affidavits attacking Juror A. H. Henslee were made public Monday afternoon by Attorneys Luther Z. Rosser and Reuben R. Arnold, for the condemned man. J. J. Nunnally and Virgil Harris, buggy dealers of Monroe, Ga., and Dr. W. L. Rickert, a dentist of the Walton county seat, signed them. They accuse Mr. Henslee of having expressed belief in the guilt of Frank between the time of the murder and July 28, the day upon which he was chosen as a juror.

Mr. Henslee is busy preparing an answer to these attacks made upon him, as is Juror Marcus Johenning, also accused of bias. The former has conferred with the solicitor in regard to the matter, and, denying all the charges, declares his intention to disprove them, if possible.

That Judge L. S. Roan will hear the motion when it is taken up was made practically certain on Monday when arrangements for a term of the criminal division of the superior court for October 13 were cancelled.

ON TRIAL FOR USING MAILS TO DEFRAUD

Memphis, Tenn., October 6.—J. M. McDonald, formerly of Kansas City, but now connected with a banking institution at LaKemp, Okla.; O. E. Helton, of Shattuck, Okla.; E. R. Odlo, of Memphis, and E. L. Hendrey, formerly president of the All Night and Day bank of Memphis but now of Lonoke county, Arkansas, were placed on trial here today charged with using the mails to defraud in connection with the operation of the American Trust Company, of Memphis, of which they were officers.

Charges against W. F. Churchman, of Indianapolis, and George F. Toonges of Chicago, directors, were dismissed at the request of United States District Attorney Caney Todd, who declared the evidence on their cases insufficient to warrant a trial.

The American Trust company was organized in June, 1911, those most active i nthe organization being men prominently identified with the now defunct All Night and Day banks in Memphis, Kansas City, and other cities of the south and west. It is alleged by the government that while a prospectus was sent out giving the authorized capital stock as $500,000 and reports made to commercial agencies and others, placing the paid-up capital stock at amounts between $49,000 and $200,000, practically no stock had ever been issued and paid for in actual money.

C. M. Rainwater, teller of the American Trust company testified today that the institution simply closed its doors after an existence of about two months when agents of a furniture and fixture concern seized the furniture which had been purchased on credit. The business, he testified, was turned over to the All Night and Day bank of Memphis, of which Hendrey, one of the directors of the trust company, was president.

M. F. Bloom, cashier of the Citizens' National bank of Pine Bluff, Ark., another witness, told of a circular he received soliciting the custody of the bank's funds and offering to pay two per cent on daily balances and charging nothing for collections. The circular, Bloom testified, was signed by J. M. Sims as vice president of the trust company. Sims pleaded guilty to the charge of misusing the mails when he was arrested some months ago and is now serving a term of five years in the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga. He will testify in the present trials tomorrow.

"JOKER" IS FOUND IN CONGRESS MEASURE

Washington, October 6.—Discovery of a "joker" which might cost American manufacturers millions of dollars in the Kahn bill recently passed by congress to protect patents on foreign exhibits at the Panama-Pacific exposition, has caused the state department to withhold formal notification of the enactment of the law pending an effort to have it amended.

Under the terms of the act holders of foreign patents have only to register their certificates at the branch office of the United States commissioner of patents, on the exposition grounds to secure full protection for their articles or designs in this country until three years after the close of the exposition.

This was supposed to be a harmless and desirable provision, but Commissioner of Patents Ewing declares it radically changes existing patent laws and places in the hands of anybody who may care to take advantage of it the power to squeeze out of American manufacturers and designers an incalculable amount of money.

For a nominal fee, it is said, anybody so inclined could obtain a certificate from a foreign office of ownership of any article of design commonly used in this country or of any unpatented article produced by scores of American manufacturers. Once the certificate was registered at the exposition grounds it would give the holder the power to compel all who might be producing the article or design to pay him damages and royalties precisely as if a patent had been issued to him in this country.

An amendment to eliminate the possibility of such a thing being attempted will be introduced in congress at once.

TIMOTHY L. WOODRUFF SAID TO BE SINKING

New York, October 6.—Timothy L. Woodruff, who was stricken at the fusion notification meeting a week ago with what was declared to be paralysis suffered a relapse Sunday afternoon and was said to be in a more serious condition tonight, when he was revived after being in a state of coma for thirty hours. His wife and son are in constant attendance. Definite information in response to inquires concerning Mr. Woodruff's condition is refused by his physicians, but it is learned that the arteries on the right side of his head hardened, thus causing paralysis of his left side, and that the attack was brought on by a stroke of apoplexy.

SUICIDE IS FLEEING TO UNKNOWN EVILS

Greensboro, N. C., October 6.—"Suicide is fleeing from present ills to others we know not of," said Rev. Dr. W. Mac White, retiring moderator of the North Carolina synod, in preaching before that body tonight at its opening session. He said if people believed in the Word of God and in immortality they would always choose to live out the natural life, even though it should be difficult.

He declared it to be past comprehension that men will take instant action if their property be in danger, or if their body is threatened with disease, and yet little thought of the importance of their souls. "Men," he said, "will let their immortal souls take the eternal risk."

CONSPIRED TO DEFAME REPUTATION OF FUNK

Chicago, October 6.—The trial of Daniel Donahue, a lawyer, and Isaac Steiffel, a private detective, charged with conspiracy to defame the reputation of Clarence S. Funk, was begun today.

Attorney Harry P. Simonton set forth that Donahue's connection with the case was solely that of an attorney employed by John C. Henning to prosecute a damage suit against Funk for alleged alienation of the affections of Mrs. Henning.

Henning and his wife have confessed that the suit against Funk was the result of a conspiracy. Aileen Heppner, a third defendant in the conspiracy indictment, will be tried separately. Funk alleges that the attempt to blacken his reputation was an act of revenge for his testimony against Senator Lorimer.

DISCIPLES OF CHRIST CONCLUDE CONVENTION

Toronto, Ont., October 6.—The Disciples of Christ tonight concluded their annual convention here. At the business meeting this afternoon it was decided to use the budget idea in raising and apportioning money for the various departments. In accordance with this plan the budget for the next year will amount to $600,000, which will be apportioned among the various states and by the state boards to the individual churches.

Resolutions were adopted approving the commemoration of the hundred years' peace between the United States and Great Britain and expressing a desire for a "saloonless America" by 1920. The next convention will be held in Atlanta, Ga., in October, 1914.

Officers elected included: President, Hill M. Bell, Des Moines, Iowa; recording secretary, Colby D. Hall, Ft. Worth, Texas; corresponding secretary, Graham Frank, Liberty, Mo.; treasurer, A. R. Leachon, Cleveland, Ohio.

Mawell Evarts Ill.

Windsor, Vt., October 6.—The condition of Maxwell Everts, general counsel for the Southern Pacific railway company, who has been ill for three months, was said by his physicians tonight to be serious. While the nature of Mr. Evarts' ailment was not made public, it was stated tonight that he was greatly weakened by hemorrhages of the nose and mouth.

SHORTAGE IS CHARGED TO A CUDAHY CASHIER

Kansas City, October 6.—William O. Lucas, formerly cashier of the Kansas City branch of the Cudahy Packing company, was charged with embezzlement in a state warrant this afternoon. Lucas was arrested Saturday. An eastern surety company that bonded Lucas estimated that a shortage of $26,000 will be shown. The warrant charges the embezzlement of $888.11, this being the amount of a check which it was alleged was misappropriated by Lucas. Lucas disappeared September 23, while an investigation of the Cudahy books was in progress. It was alleged speculations charged against the former cashier have extended over the last eight years.

Lucas had been with the company twenty years. He is widely known in sporting circles, and was a member of the American Bowling congress.

After waiving examination in the preliminary hearing, Lucas was bound over. He failed to furnish $65,000 bond and was remanded to jail.

ABSENT DEMOCRATS WANTED AT CAPITAL

Washington, October 6.—Administration leaders in the house, anxious over the urgent deficiency bill which will come over from the senate tomorrow, are sending out appeals to absent members to return to Washington and stay until the bill, as amended, can be sent to conference and a conference report approved.

The amendment in the senate abolishing the commerce court, but retaining the judges thereof on the circuit bench, is expected to cause considerable discussion and republicans are preparing again to attack the provision removing deputy United States marshals and deputy internal revenue collectors from the civil service.

The fact that there is not a quorum of the house in Washington is causing the democratic leaders considerable concern, for, without one, opponents of the measure might tie it up and greatly embarras government departments that are in need of funds, particularly the department of labor.

ANTI-TRUST MEASURES PLANNED BY WILSON

Washington, October 6.—A start was made by President Wilson today on his anti-trust program for the December session of congress. He had a long preliminary conference with Senator Newlands, of Nevada, chairman of the Interstate Commerce committee, which handles trust legislation in the senate.

The president expects to confer also in the near future with Representative Clayton, chairman of the house judiciary committee, as well as with other members of the two congressional committees which will be directly in charge of the legislation.

Senator Newlands said after the conference that he expected the president to transmit some recommendations to his committee early in the December session. These probably will materialize after the president consults Attorney General McReynolds and some prominent lawyers outside of the official circuit who have been studying the problem for years.

$18,000,000 YEARLY ASKED OF RAILROADS

New York, October 6.—It will cost the eastern railroads nearly $18,000,000 more a year to operate if they are compelled to grant the wage demands of their 80,000 trainmen and conductors, it was testified on behalf of the roads today, before the federal arbitration board. The increase asked for represents an increase of 21 per cent over the total wages now paid, according to John G. Walber, a vice president's assistant of the Baltimore and Ohio.

"Taking into consideration all the agencies working in favor of the trainmen in these requests should they be granted, the increase would approximately cost the railroads $17,975,688 more a year than at present," said the witness.

PROTESTS ARE MADE TO ENTRY OF BURLAPS

Washington, October 6.—Protests against the entry into the United States of $400,000 worth of burlaps for cotton bagging, now in bonded warehouses in New Orleans and Galveston, has been made to the treasury department by the American Manufacturing company, of New York, on the ground that the burlaps were convict-made and that such importations are prohibited by the new tariff law.

Most of the burlaps come from England, but the raw material from which they are made came from Russia, France, Germany, Spain and other countries. It is claimed that convict labor figured in the making of the raw material and this raises the question of whether the treasury department, unmissing "Harry Lawrences" from homes ufactured article to ascertain whether convict labor figured in any process connected with it. No decision has been reached.

HYPNOTIST IN COMO; CAN'T BE IDENTIFIED

Kansas City, Mo., October 6.—Authorities in the city hospital today announced themselves baffled in their efforts to identify a patient who registered at a local hotel as "Professor Harry Lawrence, New York," on September 25, and was picked up unconscious in the street next day.

The patient recovered consciousness at the hospital, but his memory of past events is gone. Papers and circulars found led to the belief that he is a professional hypnotist and that his home is in Alexandria, Tenn. Communication with the Tennessee city thus far has produced no response.

Other efforts to find the patient's connections have brought reports of missing "Harry Lawrence" from homes in Philadelphia, Tampa, Fla., and Baltimore, Md.

BULK OF HER $500,000 GIVEN TO CHARITY

Galesburg, Ill., October 6.—With the filing of the will of Mrs. Mary Davis McKnight today it became known that $435,000 of her half-million-dollar estate had been given to charity.

Among the gifts are Moody Bible institute, Chicago, $25,000; Chicago Tract society, $25,000; American Bible society, $25,000; American Board of Congregational Foreign Missions, $75,600; American Missionary association of the Congregational church, $100,000.

Mrs. McKnight died September 22.

Militia Officers Meet.

Chicago, October 6.—For the purpose principally of discussing the "pay bill" 250 officers from various states met here today at the opening of the fifteenth annual convention of the National Guard association of the United States. The bill under discussion, provides for the payment of one dollar to each member of the state militia for each attendance at regular weekly meetings. The expense involved is borne at present by the militiamen themselves.

Atlanta Live Stock.

(By W. H. White, Jr., of the White Provision Company.)

Good to choice steers, 1,000 to 1,200 pounds, $5.00 to $6.00.

Medium to good steers, 700 to 850 pounds, $4.50 to $5.00.

Medium to good cows, 700 to 800 pounds, $3.75 to $4.50.

Good to choice heifers, 750 to 850 pounds, $4.00 to $5.00.

Medium to good heifers, 650 to 750 pounds, $3.75 to $4.00.

Mixed to common steers, if fat, 800 to 900, $4.25 to $5.00.

Medium to common cows, if fat, 700 to 800, $3.50 to $4.25.

Mixed common, 600 to 800, $2.75 to $3.50.

Heavy rough and mixed hogs, $7.00 to $8.00.

Above quotations apply to corn-fed hogs; mast and peanut-fattened, 1c to 1½c under.

Liberal run of plain cattle in yards, better grades continue scarce and in good demand. The market generally had ranged about steady with continued wide range in prices for the reason of the general mixture of the bulk of receipts and the disposition of buyers to want a better class of beef cattle than are coming.

Inquiries for desirable feeding steers continue to come from all sections and the live stock dealers are exerting every effort to secure a line sufficient to supply this demand, but so far report it a difficult matter to find suitable stock at reasonable prices. Parties desiring to feed should place orders with their dealers without delay.

Hogs are not coming freely; none from Georgia points and Tennessee shippers report hogs scarce and for the reason of a short corn crop the supply will be short throughout the session.

TREATY NOT VIOLATED IN HARRY THAW CASE

Washington, October 6.—None of Harry K. Thaw's treaty rights as an American citizen were violated when Canadian immigration authorites forcibly deported him a few weeks ago. That was the ruling today of Solicitor Joseph W. Folk, of the state department.

Thaw asked the state department to make representations to the British embassy in protest against his deportation on September 10. In holding that none of his rights had been violated, the state department declined to do so. Solicitor Folk issued this statement:

"After careful examination of the treaties between this government and the government of Great Britain, alleged to have been infringed upon in the deportation to Harry K. Thaw from Canada, this department can find no provision violated by the action taken in connection with this case by the Canadian authorities, either administrative or judicial.

"This department, therefore, would not be warranted in making any representations to the British government in the matter. The inquiry determined is not whether Thaw should be liberated or whether extradition should be granted. But the question before the department is whether there was violation of any British-American treaty in the Thaw case by the Canadian authorities. The reply must be in the negative. Senator Oliver, who brought the matter to the attention of the department, will be advised accordingly."

Has Thaw Been Indicted?

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., October 6.—The grand jury which has been considering the conspiracy charge against Harry K. Thaw was discharged today but no official information came from the county court as to whether Thaw had been indicted. John T. Ringwood, counsel for Thaw, moved for dismissal of the charge on the ground that there was no indictment. Judge Hasbrouck denied this motion and instructed the members of the jury not to reveal whether they had found an indictment.

NO CHEAP MEXIC BEEF BECAUSE OF TARIFF

Nogales, Arizona, October 6.—The American beef consumer will not procure meat more cheaply because of the new tariff if the Sonora constitutionalist government can prevent it. An export duty equal to the former import duty collected by the Unite States customs department was imposed today by officials of the insurgent state.

All Sonora-Arizona ports of entry are controlled by the constitutionalists. The export tax will range from 6 to 10 pesos for each animal crossing into the United States.

The action came as a surprise to importers along the border. The tax will be imposed immediately.

FROM 50-CENT START FUND REACHES $1,801

Zanesville, Ohio, October 6.—Ten days ago a farmer's wife sent a local newspaper 50 cents with which to start a fund for the benefit of Bessie Donley, aged 15, of Coshocton, Ohio, who recently made an unsuccessful attempt to end her life when she lost her position as a factory worker because of the operation of the state's new child labor law. Today the fund reached $1,801.

The girl is still in a Coshocton hospital, but physicians say she will recover. She was overwhelmed with joy today when told of the money contributed for her. The Donley family is dependent upon her for support. Her father is a cripple, her mother is blind and she has six brothers and sisters younger than she.

James Case Settled.

Lawrenceville, Ga., October 6.—(Special.)—Boyd James, the young white man of Suwanee, who was lodged in the Gwinett county jail on the charge of seduction, has settled his case by marrying the young woman in question, Miss Sanory Dispain. She was here Friday and Ordinary G. G. Robinson married them in his office.

Truants Are Captured.

Savannah, Ga., October 6.—(Special.) Two boys who were arrested today after having escaped from the county juvenile farm explained that the reason they ran away was because they were required to eat and sleep with negro boys. The authorities deny that the condition complained of exists. The boys are Frank Parrisn and J. B. Grant.

COTTON DECLINED 15 TO 20 POINTS

Habersham King's Estimate of 15,750,000 Bales Main Factor in Decline — Spots Quiet and Unchanged.

New York, October 6.—Lower cables, the appearance of clearing weather in the southwest over Sunday and a bearish southern crop estimate, appeared to encourage bearish or reactionary sentiment in the cotton market at the opening today, but after an early break of 22 to 28 points there was a partial rally on covering or bull support, with the close steady at a net loss of 15 or 20 points. Selling was very active and more or less general at the start, owing to bearish foreign trade and crop advices and predictions of increased receipts and freer southern offerings as a result of better weather in the belt.

The crop estimate of 15,750,000 bales by a prominent authority, who bases his view on the yield on a study of weather conditions, was considered too far out of line with popular expectations to have been fully accepted, but doubtless added to the unsettled feeling in the market.

There were quite a good many over Sunday buying orders around the ring and after starting easy at a decline of 13 to 15 points there was a light rally, butt prices soon eased off again with December contracts selling at 13.53 during the middle of the morning, or about 44 points under the high records of last week.

After the close of Liverpool had shut out arbitrage busine ssand the publication of the western belt forecast for unsettled weather, with lower temperatures, offerings became lighter and the market steadied on rumors of trade buying, covering by recent sellers for a turn and support from local bull sources.

Subsequent fluctuations were more or less irregular with last prices showing rallies of from 8 to 10 points, although some selling was promoted late in the day by reports of easier southern spot markets.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, October 6.—The cotton market had a downward tendency today on selling for both accounts, based on better weather in the belt over Sunday and a sensationally high crop guess from a private bureau which, while it excited no great interest among conservative traders, was seized upon by the bearish element as a good excuse for selling. The weaker long interesst liquidated heavily at the decline and bearish comment was that the market was decidedly oversold and in a weak technical position. The private forecast that caused short selling put the crop at 15,75,000 bales, minimum.

The market opened steady at a decline of 13 to 17 points on poor cables and the favorable map. First prices were the lowest in the early trading as a quick recovery followed the initial slump. Prices did not work over the level of Saturday's close, however, and a little later the market was again under heavy selling pressure, much of the selling being encouraged by the large crop estimate mentioned above. By the middle of the morning, the decline was widened to 19 to 21 points. Toward noon there was another partial recovery, but in the afternoon the decline was widened to 20 to 23 points. The close was easy at a net loss for the day of 19 to 23 points.

While the weather map was more favorable and the detailed reports noted very little rain in the belt over Sunday, the forecasts again promised unsettled weather for the western half of the belt which gave the market a fairly steady understone during the greater part of the session.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, October 6.—Europe did not respond to our advance of Saturday, being under the influence of a crop estimate from Georgia for a crop of fifteen and one-half million bales. This estimate was so at variance with other reports that it startled Europe and finally caused Liverpool to close lower than Saturday. Heavy outside selling here caused a decline of over 35 points. The market rallied, closing steady about 20 points lower. On the break, the spinners bought a little cotton, the short interest became again increased and the selers of last week appeared as buyers on a scale down. We think the feeling is against the market amongst the local trade because of the weight of this outside selling. There is a cold wave and a high barometer following the low barometer in the southwest, which might cause a frost in exposed places within the next 48 hours, or it may go northwest and miss the cotton fields.

Gibert & Clay.

New York, October 6.—Hedge selling was in greater volume here today and was instrumental in causing general liquidation, under which prices declined about 25 points. While there was no special news directly affecting values, the general demand proved much smaller than recently and consequently offerings were only absorbed at a lower range of prices.

Cotton Seed Oil.

New York, October 6.—Cotton seed oil was lower, closing prices showing a net loss of 7 to 10 points. The decline was due to reports of easier crude markets and scattered liquidation on the weakness in lard and cotton. Tenders on contract amounted to 1,000 barrels. Sales totaled 10,600.

Prime crude 5.94, nominal; do. summer yellow 7.04@7.12; do. winter yellow 7.20@8.00; do. summer white 7.10@8.00; October 7.06; November 6.98; December 7.00; January 7.05; February 7.12; March 7.22; April 7.26; May 7.35.

John F. Black & Co.

New York, October 6.—It was a rather irregular market today. The opening was at a decline of 10 to 15 points. The market rallied about 5 points after the opening and looked like going higher, when it was hit by a crop estimate of Habersham King, of Georgia, who placed the crop at 15,750,000 bales, with the possibility of 500,000 more, if Texas has a late frost. The market broke about $1 a bale on this, but there was a good tone during the afternoon and the close was steady, only a few points below the opening. A short interest is being built up that would run very quickly on any really bad crop news.

Liverpool is due to come 1½ to 2½ points up.

Dry Goods.

New York, October 6.—Cotton goods ruled firm and active today. Cotton yarns were steady. Some lines o fcotton warp dress goods have been sold up and withdrawn for spring. Percals have been avdanced to a basis of 7c for 4-6 64's.

FEAR OF FOREIGN WHEAT IMPORTS

This Caused Wheat to Decline Five-Eighths of a Cent—Corn and Oats Also Had Setbacks.

Chicago, October 6.—Possibility of Russian, Manchurian and Indian wheat being shipped to the Pacific slope and of Argentina taking steps to compete in Atlantic ports of the United States formed a weight on the wheat market here today. The close, though steady, was at ⅝c net decline. Other leading staples, too, showed setbacks—corn ⅛@¼ to ⅜, oats ⅛ to ¼ and provisions a shade to 15c.

Russian shipments of wheat to this country under the new tariff bill will be of considerable magnitude, it is said. Shipments from the other countries referred to were thought likely to be less important. Additional sources of weakness in wheat prices were larger world shipments than expected and a huge increase of the visible supply. Liberal hedge sales at Minneapolis caused a decided downward impulse at the outset and so also did the fact that the early buyers were shorts who had profits. At no time during the day was there any important rally, despite the fact that quotations fell to a new low level for the year.

Primary receipts of wheat today were 1,779,000 bushels, a year ago 2,626,000 bushels. Seaboard clearances of wheat and flour equaled 1,766,000 bushels.

Belief that a prominent speculative bull was unloading on a large scale made the corn market heavy. Wet weather, however, tended to uphold prices. There was a noticeable widening of the December-May spread with shorts and investors good buyers on the break.

PRICES OF STOCKS HAMMERED DOWN

Selling Was on Large Scale Among Favorite Issues. Steel Bore the Brunt of the Bear Attack and Lost.

New York, October 6.—Pronounced pressure was applied to the stock market today and for a time prices declined rapidly. Professional selling was on a large scale among the favorite stocks. London unloaded here in considerable volume and Boston and Pittsburg sent in selling orders. Trading was active during the forenoon and leading stocks, as well as a large number of the inactive issues, were hammered down 1 to 2 points. Pressure was less severe in the latter part of the day and losses were reduced.

Steel again bore the brunt of the attack, which forced it down 2 points to 56. A cut of $2 a ton in steel plates and steel sheets and expectations of further reductions in steel products promoted the growth of bearish sentiment. Uncertainty as to the effect of the new tariff schedules, not only in the steel trade, but in other industries, was more of a factor, now that the law is in operation, and had a good deal to do with the reluctance of traders to oppose bear selling.

Money market conditions were unfavorable. The unexpectedly poor bank statement Saturday and the further loss of $2,000,000 to the subtreasury led to a general tightness of rates. Call money rose to 5 per cent for the first time since last April and quotations for all time loans were advanced.

New Haven's annual report, showing a deficit of over $4,500,000 and threats of a strike of engineers and firemen on that road, led to selling of the stock. The railroad stocks in general, and St. Paul in particular, continued to reflect the decreases in net earnings shown in August reports.

In the bond market there was a slight declining tendency. Total sales, par value, $2,055,000. United States 4s coupon declined ½ to 109, a new low record. Bid prices for all issues were unchanged.

The Safe Choice
IN SELECTING A DEPOSITORY for your funds, absolute safety is your first consideration. A wealthy bank with an inexperienced Management and Directorate may be all right, or a moderately rich bank with a strong Management and Directorate may be able to afford you every courtesy you desire. But decidedly the safe choice is to deposit in a bank with an experienced Management and an able Directorate, and where its reputation for meeting every need of the most particular deserving depositors extends over a period of many years.
The ATLANTA NATIONAL BANK has met all these requirements.

ATLANTA'S STRIDES FROM DAY TO DAY

All News of Real Estate and Building.

COLE COMPANY OPENS BRANCH IN PONCE DE LEON APARTMENTS

Announcement was made yesterday that the directors of the Cole Book company had determined upon the establishment of a branch of its business on Peachtree street, and had definitely concluded a lease for storeroom No. 1 of the new Ponce de Leon apartments, located at the corner of Peachtree street and Ponce de Leon avenue.

The Cole Book company is one of the oldest and best established stores of its class in Atlanta, dealing in books, magazines, newspapers, stationery and art goods of all kinds.

The business of the main store on Whitehall street has grown to such proportions as to require the establishment of a branch house on the north side, and the attractive storeroom of the Ponce de Leon apartments will afford an excellent location for the new enterprise.

The storeroom selected by the Cole Book company fronts the curve at the intersection of Peachtree and Ponce de Leon and it is announced that negotiations are now in progress with a leading drug store for the occupancy of the main storeroom of the Ponce de Leon apartments, fronting directly on Peachtree street, and that definite lease for this store will be announced during the present week.

Many established commercial houses who have heretofore conducted their business on the south side exclusively have recently opened branch houses on the north side, and the leases recently announced serve to emphasize the sure, but certain, encroachment of business upon the Peachtree territory heretofore restricted to residence purposes, and of which the intersection of Ponce de Leon avenue and Peachtree becomes the commercial center.

Close-in Acreage Sale.

The Turman, Black & Calhoun agency announced the sale of 16 acres of land near State and West Fourteenth streets on Monday, for a consideration of $30,000. This agency sold this tract for the Provident Realty and Trust company to the Atlanta Banking and Savings company. The purchaser will subdivide and improve the tract and place it on the market.

In this transaction the sellers were represented by Messrs. S. B. and W. R. Turman, and the purchasers were represented by Messrs. W. J. Davis and E. G. Black.

Grading New Subdivision.

S. B. Turman, of Turman, Black & Calhoun, is now preparing six blocks of property at Lakewood avenue and the Southern railway, near McDonough road, for the market. He is having this property graded and will divide it into residence and manufacturing sites. It will probably be placed on the market about next spring.

Edwards Gets Big Contract.

W. A. Edwards, the Atlanta architect, has been awarded the contract for the improvement of an entire block of property in the center of the business section of Spartanburg, S. C. The property is the block known as the Spartan Inn block.

Mr. Edwards is now making plans for the erection of a hotel, a department store, an office building and a new terminal station on this block. Mr. Edwards will treat all these buildings consistently, and it is said that when completed this will be one of the most beautiful city blocks in the entire south from an artistic standpoint. The entire outlay will represent something over $500,000.

More Spring Street Talk.

The plans for this street include a new and uniform grade, new smooth paving, the opening of the street through Marietta street, the construction of a viaduct across the railway tracks to the Terminal station and a straightening of the street between Carnegie way and Cain street, making of this street a fine boulevard all the way from the city to Brookwood.

Corinthian Apartments Sold.

M. C. Kiser has sold for J. F. Askew to L. C. Durham the Corinthian apartments, at No. 136 West Peachtree street, for $140,000, Mr. Askew taking in part payment the following property, valued at $10,500:

The northwest corner of Central avenue and Garnett street, three frame houses on a lot fronting 94 feet on Central avenue and 108 feet on Garnett street, valued at $38,000. Two vacant lots on Nassau street, with aggregate frontage of 67 feet and depth of 80 feet, valued at $26,000. Twelve acres of railroad frontage on the A., B. & A. railroad in the West End section, valued at $12,500, and 66 lots on Third and Fourth avenues, near East Lake drive, in the East Lake section, valued at $33,000.

PROPERTY TRANSFERS.

Warranty Deeds.

$500—May J. Sells to Thomas N. Alexander, lot on north side of an alley, 150 feet northeast of East Pine street and Summitt avenue, 96x88 feet. October 3.

$2,630—E. Y. Crockett to Mrs. M. E. Kennon, lot south side Ormond street, 50 feet west of Hill street, 50x140 feet. December 30, 1908.

$1,550—Realty Trust company to Miss Birdie Thrasher et al., lot 2, block 25, Ansley park, on north side Avery drive, 60x193 feet. August 7, 1912.

LEGAL ADVERTISEMENTS.

U. S. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY, Washington, D. C., August 15, 1913. Notice No. 96. Notice is hereby given that the Acting Secretary of Agriculture has, under authority conferred by law, issued Rule 1, Revision 11 (B. A. I. Order 199), dated August 14, 1913, and effective on and after September 1, 1913, to prevent the spread of splenetic, southern, or Texas fever in cattle. The effect of this order as to the State of Georgia is to quarantine the entire state of Georgia, except the counties of Fannin, Union, Towns, Rabun, White, Habersham, Stephens, Hart, Banks, Hall, Clarke, Putnam, Newton, and Oconee. The aforementioned quarantine is modified by permission to ship interstate to points outside of the quarantined area as uninfected cattle, of the non-quarantined area that are exhibited at the Georgia State Fair, Macon, Ga., October 21 to 31, 1913, and the Georgia-Carolina Fair, Augusta, Ga., November 5 to 15, 1913, subject to restrictions promulgated by the Secretary of Agriculture. Copies of the above mentioned order may be obtained from the Chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry, Washington, D. C. B. T. GALLOWAY, Acting Secretary of Agriculture.

SLEUTH HAS NARROW ESCAPE FROM BLAZE

Atlanta Woodenware Plant Catches on Fire With Detective Watching.

The narrow escape of a Pinkerton detective from a burning structure in which he had been "planted" to catch robbers, a blaze that ate through the establishment of the Atlanta Woodenware company, at Marietta and Foundry streets, and a frantic alarm shrieked from the throats of a half dozen switch engines in the yards nearby combined to draw a crowd at midnight last night.

The Pinkerton man would not give his name to reporters, saying it "was against orders. He admitted being with the Pinkertons, and having been put in the building to apprehend robbers who have been stealing from the woodenware concern. Beyond that he would not talk. The flames did probably $5,000 damage. The origin of is a mystery, but is believed to have been caused by rats.

NO SPREES ALLOWED OFFICERS OF THE NAVY

Washington, October 6.—Secretary Daniels will insist on an official report of the case of Ensign Cheveller, one of the navy aviators arrested in Baltimore after running down two boys with an automobile. The secretary also announced that he proposed to deal drastically with cases of drunkenness among naval officers.

"If an employer chooses to overlook intoxication in one whose wages he pays, that is another matter," said Secretary Daniels. "No one is hurt. But intoxication of a naval officer is a reflection on the entire service and on the administration which fails to deal with it effectively and firmly. The naval officer is in the pay of all the people, a public official, and must not give occasion to public scandal."

SHOT DEAD IN FIGHT OVER GAME OF CARDS

Bridgeport, Ala., October 6.—In a fight over a game of cards, Henry Hutchens was shot and killed by John Green. Green at once fled, but was soon after captured and taken to jail in Scottsboro. Both men were employees of a stove foundry here. The difficulty arose over a matter of a few cents. Green claims Hutchens was advancing on him with a brick when he fired.

The dead man is survived by a wife and two small children. The man in jail charged with the crime has a wife

COMIC OPERA MAY COST PRINCESS HER INCOME

Leipsic, Germany, October 6.—Signora Toselli, formerly Crown Princess Louise of Saxony, probably will become involved in trouble with the Saxon government in connection with the comic opera of which she wrote the liberetto and whose approaching production is announced in Rome.

The government declares that if the work contains any attacks on the Saxon royal family it will cut down the princess' annuity, which already has been once reduced owing to the princess' indiscretions. The authorites will, however, abstain from any criminal or civil prosecution, which they consider would only furnish publicity for the work.

BIG ATLANTA PARTY OFF FOR KNOXVILLE

Headed by Eagles' Drum Corps Delegation Will Storm Tennessee City Today.

Several hundred strong the Atlanta delegation to attend "Atlanta Day" at the National Conservation exposition, at Knoxville, left Atlanta for the Tennessee city by special train over the L. & L. last mid night. Many left on the regular trains yesterday afternoon, and others will go this morning.

The Atlantans, led by the Eagles' drum and bugle corps, will advance upon Knoxville this morning about 7 o'clock, making known their arrival by marching down the main street of the city.

The Eagles' drum and bugle corps, with many of the Atlanta delegation, paraded the streets of Atlanta Monday night prior to entraining for Knoxville. The drum corps marched down Alabama street and gave The Constitution a grand serenade that roused the natives for blocks around. They then "had their pickturs tuk" and marched to the union station to take the tdain.

CONFERENCE BARRED REGARDING HOME RULE

London, October 6.—The government has decided to have nothing to do with Earl Loreburn's suggestion for a home rule conference. The first speech by a cabinet minister since Lord Loreburn made his suggestion was delivered tonight at Pontypool by the Rt. Hon. Reginald McKenna, secretary of state for home affairs, who declared that such a conference could only mean procrastination, when one party gave nothing but a flat refusal to the proposals of the other party.

He further announced that the home rule bill would follow the anticipated course in parliament and would become a law next session, despite the opposition of the house of lords. The government, he declared, was determined to submit neither to minority rule nor to anarchy.

Premier Asquith today succeeded Augustine Birrell, chief secretary for Ireland, as minister attendant on the king at Balmoral, and Andrew Benardlaw, leader of the opposition, had a conference with the ulster unionist leaders, Sir Edward Carson and Frank K. Smith.

INSURANCE COURSE FOR PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Pittsburg, October 6.—Officers of the National Life Underwriters' association elected at the annual meeting held in Atlantic City, September 18, were inaugurated here tonight, following a custom of thirteen years. They include president, E. J. Clark, Baltimore; secretary, Frank D. Buser, Philadelphia; treasurer, Harvey S. Dale Chicago; chairman of executive committee, Hugh M. Willett, Atlanta, Ga.; members executive council, Henry W. Powell, Louisville, Ky.; Neill D. Sills, Richmond, Va.

President Clark, in his inaugural address, delivered in the presence of more than 500 life underwriters, advocated the systematic teaching of insurance principles in the public schools and higher educational institutions and the enactment of laws that will tend toward lower taxation of life insurance companies.

Shot by Strikers.

Al H. Wilson.

(At the Atlanta.)

It is too bad that Al H. Wilson, who introduced to Atlanta his new and charming song play, "A Rolling Stone," at the Atlanta theater last night, could not arrange to stay over for at least one more performance, for he has a novel and interesting play and some very pretty new songs.

Mr. Wilson had a good-sized house last night, but undoubtedly there are many more people in Atlanta who would be glad of a chance to hear him.

In "A Rolling Stone," for the sake of gaining his sweetheart a fortune, Al Wilson places himself in the unique position of becoming the husband of the woman he loves with the impression that she does not love him. Meanwhile, as the wife, his sweetheart is struggling under the illusion that he cares never a bit for her. As a consequence, they agreed to live in different parts of his apartment, and very amusing complications set in at once.

Mr. Wilson made a hit last night in his new song, "My Little Climbing Rose," the melody of which is very pretty, indeed. Other new songs which the audience liked were "We Are as Far Apart as the World is Wide" and "Riding in Loveland." His review of old favorites, of course, struck a responsive chord in his hearers.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

Lovers of vaudeville will find a treat in store for them at the Forsyth this week. There is plenty of diversity in the bill and this should please. Every class of vaudeville entertainment is given, singing, dancing, music, skits, pathos, humor, comedy, acrobatics.

Taking the acts in the order of the applause they received at the opening night, Eddie Bordon and Irene Shannon in a singing and dancing act were the hit of the evening. They are billed as the "acme of versatility." Farther comment is unnecessary.

Hugh Herbert, assisted by Thomas Herbert and Margaret Williams, present in "A Son of Soloman," one of the neatest sketches that has ever appeared on a vaudeville stage locally. An east side Jewish home, the trials and tribulations of a doting father with a wayward son, whose mother is dead, returning home in trouble, the daughter and sister, "mother" in the household, is protrayed in a manner that drives home a lesson, but ends in "the happy ever afterwards" strain.

Eddie Girard and Jessie Gardner in an oriental skit depicting the dream of the Policeman's family is ably presented and provoked many laughs.

The Five Melody Boys have a musical act above the average. Henrietta Wilson and Company in a novelty shooting feature are a splendid opener. The Carl Damman acrobatic troupe of seven closes the bill. They have several new stunts.

"One Day."

(At the Lyric.)

While the unhappy love story of one man and woman runs through the plot of "One Day" at the Lyric this week, a tale of free love which ignores the laws of society, there is another love story that verges on the burlesque at times, but is far sweeter in its ending, if not springing from a pair who cherish each other so devotedly that they trample upon the conventionalities of the world.

"One Day" is the sequel to "Three Weeks" and in it Eleanor Glynn has made her hêr and heroine end their unhappy lives before the curtain falls. She does not destine her hero to a life of unanswered longing as in the other story. Paul, Crown Prince of Sardalla, is the hero of the sequel. He is the son of unhappy queen who in "Three Weeks" gave her life for her love and the action of the play starts at his twentieth year. He is engaged, as a matter of diplomacy, to an Austrian princess some fifteen years his senior, but falls in love with a young American in whose veins runs the passionate blood of the Creole.

How the couple fight at first against their love, with the prince trying to remember his duty to his people and the girl, her plighted troth to a French count, only to forget all but their love, makes the story.

The love affair of a titled English girl and the son of a Chicago pork packer and millionaire furnishes the lighter side to the play.

Victor Southland takes the difficult part of the crown prince well and as does Miss Fay Cusick as his sweetheart. The ighter and happier love story is carried out by Jack Lewis and Jessie May Hall.

"The Jolly Widow."

(At The Columbia.)

"The Jolly Widow" is the attraction at the Columbia Burlesque theater this week. With Miss Bee Darling featured, the company opened its third week in Atlanta at a matinee yesterday afternoon to a packed house.

That the management kept faith with the patrons by putting on the best show of the season was evidenced by the rounds of applause which greeted each number. "The Jolly Widow" is a comedy of exceptional merit. There are opportunities galore for each member of the cast. Miss Darling added to her popularity. She appeared in the role of the widow, and her interpretation was splendid. Her song and dance numbers were great. Messrs. Davis and Waits scored in several numbers in which the entire chorus took part.

"The Jolly Widow" will be the attraction through the entire week with daily matinees.

North of '53.

(At the Atlanta.)

Beginning Wednesday afternoon with a matinee at 2:30 o'clock the most wonderful motion pictures ever shown in Atlanta will be given at the Atlanta theater for four days. These are the pictures of life in Alaska and the north country given under the title of "North of '53." An interesting lecture descriptive of the country and the conditions is a strong feature of the productions. The pictures are more wonderful than those showing the Paul Rainey African hunt and are under the direction of the same firm. Seats are on sale at present for the engagement.

FLORENCE ENTERTAINS BUSINESS ASSOCIATES

C. S. Florence, of the Fulton Bag and Cotton mills, entertained fifteen of his business associates Monday night with a dinner in the Pine room of the Hotel Ansley. After Claim Men's Convention.

We will have with us also next year the International Claims association convention, or know why, according to announcement made Tuesday at the Atlanta convention bureau office.

This convention meets in Nashville October 8, 9 and 10. Fred Houser, secretary of the Atlanta Convention bureau, has designs on this aggregation and is planning to bring it here in 1914. When the claim men get to Nashville they will find the convention bureau on the job.

Secretary Leahy Well Again.

Friends of W. H. Leahy, acting secretary of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, and secretary of the industrial and statistical bureau, who has been ill for the last week, were glad to see him out again and back on the job at the chamber of commerce quarters on Tuesday.

Markets Committee to Meet.

The public markets committee of the chamber of commerce will hold an important meeting Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the chamber of commerce hall, in the Empire building. President O. T. Camp, of the Retail Grocers' association, and other representatives of this organization will meet with the chamber of commerce committee At this meeting the need of a general public market and plans to relieve the present situation will be discussed.

A. J. Orme, chairman; Colonel Robert J. Lowry, Charles H. Black, J. Epps Brown, Charles E. Sciple, J. W. Farlinger, Jesse Armistead and Walter Rich.

Want to Know of Atlanta.

W. H. Leahy, secretary of the industrial and statistical bureau of the chamber of commerce, says that a large number of inquiries are coming daily to the bureau for information about Atlanta as a residence city. The mail on this subject, he says, will average twenty letters per day.

Public Comfort Question.

The chamber committee on public comfort, of which L. C. Green is chairman, will meet soon to discuss the urgent question of the establishment of central public comfort stations in Atlanta.

The proposition, along the lines suggested by the chamber of commerce was introduced in city council Monday afternoon, and referred to the finance committee. This plan calls for the construction of a public comfort station on the Whitehall street viaduct, adjoining the Peters building.

Corn Show Best Yet!

In passing, it might be mentioned that the show of the Boys' Corn clubs and the Girls' Canning clubs this fall will be in the best ever class. Clubs all over the state are taking a great interest in thes year's show and plans for a great snow and big time are being made.

The premium list and invitations will be sent out in a short time.

NO AUTOMOBILE RACES ON SAVANNAH COURSE

Contests for the Vanderbilt Cup and the Grand Prize Are Declared Off.

Savannah, Ga., October 6.—All hope that the Vanderbilt cup and grand prize automobile races would be run over the local course was ended tonight when the Savannah Automobile club adopted a resolution declaring both events off.

The resolution was offered by President Harvey Granger, who blamed automobile manufacturers for "refusing to enter cars in the races unless given the benefit of monetary concessions."

The club directed that the grandstands in the course be advertised for sale. This is regarded as positive proof that Savannah in the future will not be a contender for automobile races.

Gets $800 Damages.

William McElroy, a resident of Riverdale, was yesterday given a verdict for $800 against the Texas company by a jury in federal court, Judge Newman presiding. He brought suit against the Texas company in the Fulton superior court for $7,500 damages because of the death of his daughter, Eloise, which he said was the result of defective oil supplied his home by the Texas company.

$223,000 for Columbia.

New York, October 6.—Gifts to Columbia university amounting to about $223,000, were announced today at the first trustees' meeting of the present acadamic year. Among them was $200,000 from Mrs. W. Bayard Cutting and her children as a fund in memorial of the late W. Bayard Cutting, of Columbus, Ohio, who was trustee for 32 years before his death in 1912. The income is to be applied to the maintenance of traveling fellowships.

700 COUNTRY BANKERS OPPOSE GLASS MEASURE

They Declare That National Charters Will Be Surrendered Unless Bill Is Amended.

Boston, October 6.—Opposition to certain features of the Glass bill, which provides for a reform in the national currency and banking system, was voiced at a special conference today of over 700 country bankers, attending the thirty-ninth annual convention of the American Bankers' association. That a new banking system was needed was admitted, and the administration was commended for trying to pass one.

In resolutions adopted almost unanimously, these bankers, who claim to represent about 75 per cent of all the banks in the United States, declared that unless the Glass bill, or federal reserve act, is amended along lines proposed by them today, "very few country banks, either state or national, can afford to become members of the new federal system." This means, the declarations assert, 'that the great majority of country national banks must surrender their charters or retire from business."

By country banks, it was explained in the call for the conference, was meant banks operating under either state or national charters whose capital is not less than $25,000 nor more than $250,000.

The resolutions were offered by George W Rogers, of Little Rock, Ark., and were adopted as a substitute for some presented by Thomas E. McRae, of Prescott, Cal., calling for an indorsement of the fundamental principles of the currency bill. The resolutions object, among other things, to the "segregation of saving deposits, the setting aside of separate capital and the creation of two banks under the same management and under one roof."

Several meetings preliminary to the formal opening of the convention on Wednesday were held today. The total number of convention visitors on hand tonight reached nearly 2,500. At a session of the finance committee, presided over by Acting President Arthur Reynolds, of Des Moines, Iowa, the association was shown to be in its best condition financially in four years, with cash balances of about $155,000.

TWO MEN ARE CHARGED WITH ANNOYING WOMEN

Plain Clothes Policemen Green and McKibbin last night arrested two men in different parts of the uptown district on charges of annoying women on the streets.

One of the prisoners, who gave the name of J. E. Sanford, of Cincinnati, told reporters that he was a secret service man in the employ of the government. He was arrested on Carnegie way, because, as stated by the plain clothes men, he had shadowed two girls for several blocks, and finally had spoken to them. Sanford denies the charge.

The other prisoner gave the name of J. H. Harris, aged 33 years, an insurance promoter, with offices in the Empire building. He was arrested at Pryor and Peachtree streets. Green and McKibbin, it was said, saw him speak to two girls who were escorted by a man. Trouble was averted, it is said, when the policemen interfered with the escort when he is said to have tried to hit Harris. Policeman Green refused to discuss the arrests.

W. C. T. U. IS WORKING FOR CAMPAIGN FUND

"How to raise 5,000?" is the question now confronting local W. C. T. U. workers, who are preparing to wage a battle at the national convention in New Jersey next month, in an effort to secure the big gathering for Atlanta in 1914.

Monday morning a large committee, representing the four local organizations, and headed by Mrs. Mary McLendon, Dr. Carolyn Geisel, an officer of the National association, and Mrs. T. E. Patterson, state president, waited on the Evangelical Ministers' association at their regular meeting and solicited the aid of the ministers. The committee was promised the hearty support and co-operation of the pastors' organization.

CASHIER IS HELD UP AND ROBBED OF $16,000

Stonington, Conn., October 6.—Carl Koelb, cashier of the American Velvet company, was held up at the point of a gun and robbed of $16,000 this forenoon by two masked men.

The cashier was driving with the money from the First National bank to the mill. After securing the money the robbers disappeared in a northerly direction. Posses have started in pursuit.

HE CUT OUT HEART OF HIS BETRAYER

Tampa, Fla., October 6.—Two years ago Juan Vasquez, a prominent Spanish citizen here, took Jose Cuesta, a Cuban, into his home and befriended him. Cuesta returned the kindness by informing the police that Vasquez carried a pistol. Vasquez was sent to prison and while serving sentence his mother died. He made oath to be avenged. Today he was sitting in a restaurant when he saw Cuesta outside. He quietly made his way to the kitchen, secured a large butcher knife and, after pursuing Cuesta two blocks, literally cut his heart out. He was arrested and charged with murder

BUSINESS LITERATURE

The time to send out business literature is when business is slow. You don't send for a doctor when your child is in good health. Why should you curtail on your booklet simply because business is quiet. That's when you need to send out a jam-up booklet, and you will find that returns will more than justify the expenditure. Let us work with you in getting up a booklet which will "pull" business for you.

WE KNOW HOW.

The last time we advertised these forms we sold out in a day. Labor conditions at the factory since then have prevented us from getting any more. Despite the strike, however, the factory favored us with 25 forms which we offer tomorrow at $5.98.

The form is just as pictured—accurate, rigid and easily adjustable. Note the screw at the top. It responds to the slightest twist of the wrist. Turn it to adjust the neck, bust, hips or skirt. The form can be raised or lowered to any desired skirt length. Two styles. One extends from 32 to 40; the other 36 to 44. Price $5.98. Just 25 in all; they'll scarcely last out the day.

Kumpact Non-Adjustable Forms $3.50
